A day in the life of V.U.

In the end, it will be the ordinary, everyday things that we remember. Ten years from now, it won't be "the place where we strove for higher planes of knowledge." Instead "Valpo" will conjure up memories of friends ... of beef tips and noodles at Lankenau ... of cold morning walks across the tundra in January ... of frisbee games along Mound Street ... concerts at the Union, Friday night movies, happy hours and keggars, tests, papers and finals, sticky moving-in days, sad moving-out days, reading the Torch on Mondays, football games on Saturdays, chapel at 10:30 Sundays, popcorn at midnight, no t.p. after the weekend, all-nighters, old campus during the fall, sunrises and sunsets. They are the special memories of Valpo. They are the things we should consider when we're thinking that V.U.'s just another "middle-class, middle-of-the-road, middle-western" college. They are the ordinary things.

Becoming a POP-ular (albeit CORN-y)

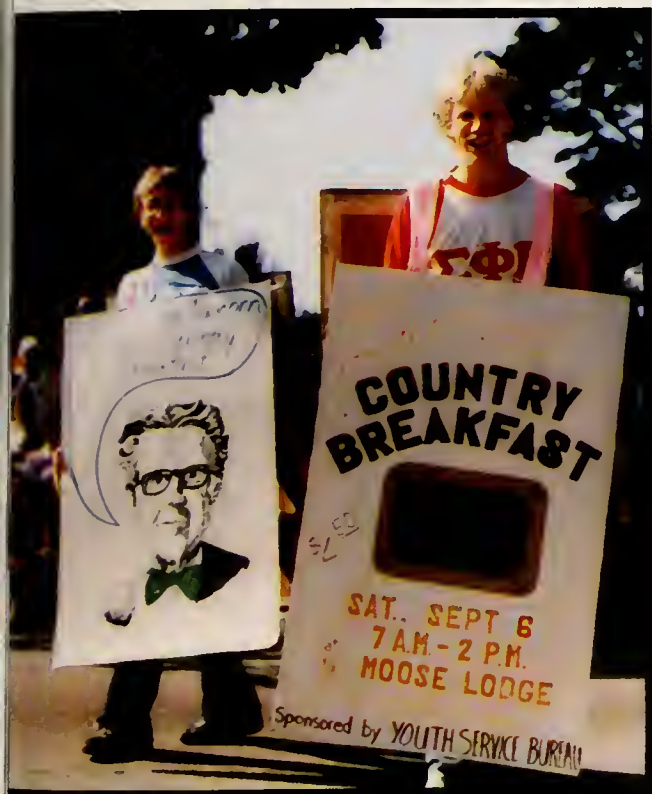

Valpo tradition

Orville was there. So was Indiana Governor Otis Bowen, with nearly everyone on the Porter County ballot at his heels. The Hammond Oraks came, too — and parade-watchers thought they'd never leave.

In fact, the city and campus community came out in full force to celebrate Valparaiso's newest tradition at the Second Annual Popcorn Festival. The fest, sponsored by the Greater Valparaiso Chamber of Commerce, began on Thursday, October 4 with the Popcorn Open Golf Tourney and wound up Saturday night with a bang — the Country and Western Show.

In between, there was literally something for everyone and every time: a five-mile run, the Popcorn Panic; the 25-mile Popcorn Pedal bike race; a country breakfast and the Festival Parade Saturday morning; booths, foods, exhibits, games, square dancing and a whole lot of fun. And the good news: the V.U. Crusaders captured the "Orvie" trophy with a 12-6 win over the University of Wisconsin/Oshkosh.

V.U. grooves to mellow fellows, an excitin' win, and ALL THAT JAZZ

The fact that this year's V.U. homecoming was not marred by rain well reflects the success of the event.

Highlighting the weekend was the Crusaders' 35-14 victory over the previously undefeated DePauw Tigers. Chilly weather did not quash the spirit of an overflow crowd at Brown Field.

That enthusiasm helped make Saturday morning's parade a roaring success, as many colorful, unique floats paraded through downtown Valpo to the delight of bundled-up spectators. Also delightful was the display of school spirit by Dau-Kreinheder freshmen, who turned their dorm into a movie theater—reflecting the '80 theme of "All That Jazz" — and won for the best dorm decorations.

Late Friday night, Sue Petersen, member of Kappa Psi Omega and Phi Sigma Epsilon nominee, was crowned homecoming queen at the traditional homecoming dance. Bob Hansen, member of Pi Kappa Alpha, was named king.

Another Friday night event was the annual bonfire. Nearly 500 people came to socialize around the huge blaze which lasted until midnight.

At the Friday games, 44 teams dove for golf balls buried in the mud, and the Gamma Phis and the "Sips" from Brandt Hall won female and male tugs-of-war. Steve Kursck won the hamburger-eating contest, wolfing down five and three-quarters burgers in 15 minutes!

After witnessing this successful homecoming, many people are wishing for lack of rain to become as much a Valpo tradition as bonfires and games!

U.S. economy takes dip

President Carter's "New Economics" weren't in time to save the American economy from one of the worst slumps in recent history. Nearly everything went bad. The Federal government was forced to bail out the Chrysler Corporation after the worst quarter in the company's history. And just a few months after that, General Motors, which supposedly "goes like the nation", chalked up its worst financial quarter. All the major steel companies registered huge declines and sent large numbers of employees home. Unemployment approached 14%, and everyone from presidential candidates to workers cried out for a tax cut.

Gold took its place along the Dow Jones industrial average and commodity prices in the standard list of economic indicators. The price of an ounce of that precious metal — which once stood at $43 in 1971 and $100 in 1976 — remained at the inflated sum of nearly $700 during most of 1980.

Nature takes charge

Mother nature made her presence known in two ways this year: the continuing eruption of Mt. St. Helens and the summer heat wave in the Southwest.

Mt. St. Helens, in Washington's Cascade Mountains, erupted first on May 18, killing over 75 persons and leaving hundreds homeless. The volcano remained active throughout the year, periodically erupting or spewing lava and ash over the state.

Meanwhile in the Southwest eleven states suffered through a devastating drought and heat wave. Temperatures hit 100° in Dallas for 33 consecutive days. Over 1200 humans died in the scorching heat, and the toll in animal lives was nearly uncountable. The loss of many farm crops sent some consumer prices soaring in the fall.

The year's best quote

"Sometimes when I look at my children, I say to myself, 'Lillian, you should have stayed a virgin.'"

— Lillian Carter

Memories of the year

— After The Brethren set the nation buzzing with stories of the Supreme Court's inner workings, the Court moved to the right on several key issues. For example, it ruled that states can refuse to pay for abortions performed on poor women.

— The still-new Pope John Paul II continued his quest of world peace, visiting South America.

— Although the 1980 census' preliminary findings showed a loss of population in America's large cities, two major urban areas tried for comebacks — Detroit by hosting the Republican national convention, Cleveland as the site of the Carter-Reagan presidential debate.

— President Carter and the U.S. Olympic Committee agreed to boycott the summer games in Moscow as a protest of the Soviet invasion of Afghanistan.

— The president re-instituted draft registration for males in the face of mounting world unrest. Signs reading "Hell no, we won't go" and post-office protests brought back memories of the 60's.

— The new census also led to speculation that Los Angeles would overtake Chicago as the second largest American city.

— The Shah of Iran finally died of cancer in Egypt — an ironic end to the Iranian militants' demand for his return home.

— President Carter received the lowest approval rating ever given to a modern chief executive.

— The ever-unpopular Susan B. Anthony dollar became a thing of the past. The federal government discontinued production, to the delight of store owners who had complained that the "dollars" looked and felt more like quarters.

— Some 120,000 Cuban refugees were allowed to enter the United States and were relocated in camps across the country.

— Raquel Welch, Fred Astaire, Angela Davis and Bjorn Borg were married — Anita Bryant and Jerry Lewis divorced their spouses — and Peter Sellers, Steve McQueen and the Cisco Kid died.

— On the international scene ... Prime Minister Begin almost lost control of Israel, Japan witnessed a smooth transition of power after its prime minister's death, and in Poland a labor strike ended in a victory for the workers, as suits Communist rhetoric.

— And just to prove that the rebellious 60's were over, Abbie Hoffman wrote a book and gave up the life of a fugitive, while Jerry Rubin accepted a position as a securities analyst on Wall Street.

A quiet period in a busy year

During a quiet period at Washington state's Mt. St. Helens volcano, gases are the only indications of the eruptions which covered the Northwest with ash and lava during 1980.

Hostages: a year and counting

On Nov. 4, fifty American men marked a year as hostages of Iranian militants. Despite an aborted rescue mission and dealings between the U.S. government and the Ayatollah Khomeini, no easy answers were in sight at press time.

Saturn: a new look

NASA's Voyager I took this picture on Sept. 17, while 47 million miles away from its Nov. 12 encounter with the planet.

"Go right, America" — Reagan leads GOP to stunning victory

In the end, it was Ronald Reagan who led the pack.

It was a long, grinding marathon that included Republicans George Bush, John Anderson, Bob Dole, John Connally, Howard Baker, Philip Crane, and Reagan. On the Democratic side there were Jerry Brown, Ted Kennedy and, of course, Jimmy Carter. There were many others, too, who received only token ink in their efforts to win, place or show in America's quadrennial electoral race.

When it was all over, the former California governor and movie actor captured 489 electoral votes and 51 percent of the popular-vote tally. Carter could garner but 49 of the former and 41 percent of the latter. Independent John Anderson received no electoral votes and seven percent of the popular vote.

As Reagan crossed the finish line, a host of other Republicans hung onto his coat tails. Indeed, those coat tails were long enough to play a big role in giving the Grand Old Party its first majority in the U.S. Senate since 1954. Gone were famous liberal Democrats George McGovern, Birch Bayh and Frank Church. Replacing them would be names like James Abdnor, Dan Quayle and Steven Symms.

The elections for the House of Representatives also favored the GOP, as over 30 seats fell from Democratic control. Four governors' mansions similarly went to the Republicans.

Because of this overwhelming Republican victory, many political observers called Election '80 a "realignment election," which in layman's terms means that the nation has significantly changed its political direction. The last realignment election occurred in 1932, when, in the midst of the Great Depression, Franklin Roosevelt's New Deal took the country by storm.

Adding fuel to the idea of a realignment election was the preponderance of conservative political action groups in the 1980 campaign. The National Conservative Political Action Committee alone poured millions of dollars into defeating liberal legislators. Right-wing religious groups, like Jerry Falwell's Moral Majority also jumped into the political arena. Although many experts doubt the importance of these New Right groups, their presence was felt in a symbolic way, if nothing else.

It is somewhat early to judge whether this country has truly taken a long-term shift to the Right. Many of the signs were there, but one must remember recent history. After all, it was only in 1974 that the Republican Party was given up for dead after Watergate. The possibility remains that 1980 was simply a spontaneous voter protest against high inflation and rising unemployment, and the Democrats the convenient scapegoat.

Of course, time will tell all. In a short time, the contestants will begin lining up for the 1982 mini-marathon. And probably sooner than we think, even more candidates will prepare for the 1984 race. By then we should know for sure if America has paved herself a path to the Right.

— David Yamada

"Gimme Jimmy" reads the banner behind President Carter, speaking to an October gathering in Memphis. Unfortunately for Carter, the American electorate said "Gimme Ronnie" on Nov. 4.

In the spirit of party unity, defeated presidential candidate Ted Kennedy shares a platform with vice-presidential nominee Walter Mondale.

"The Anderson Difference": a strong force in Election '80

John Anderson finished the '80 race with only seven percent of the popular vote and no electoral votes. But there was more to this campaign than the meager figures indicate.

Despite entering the presidential campaign as a virtually unknown Illinois congressman, Anderson managed to capture the attention of a nation with his outspoken brand of fiery rhetoric. Outspoken ideas, too, like a 50-cents-per-gallon gasoline tax, made him a media favorite. His message was especially popular on college campuses.

Some called him a self-righteous preacher. Others termed him a conservative in liberal clothing (or vice-versa). But his campaign brought many citizens into the political system, and made the "Anderson Difference" more than just a gimmick.

PREPPY

PUNK

Fashion 1980: Old, new, borrowed and blue (jeans)

From preppy to punk, cowboy to classic, and duck boots to disco — Valpo students displayed the fashion fads and trends that swept the country during the year.

Monogrammed sweaters and skinny bow ties were the first warning signs that the "Prep Look" was here. With the addition of heart-spotted turtlenecks and button-down collars, Valpo looked suddenly like a posh East Coast preparatory school. All the "Bunny"s and "Muffy"s couldn't resist those supposedly "new" cardigan-sweater sets complete with circle pins and pearl necklaces. And don't forget those "intellectual" horn-rimmed glasses! Move over, Yale and Harvard — here comes dear ol' Valpo!

Of course, in opposition to the "good little students," there were the punk rockers — straight from merry old England! With blatant disregard for the traditional ideas of fashion, the punk rockers wanted shock value. Short, short haircuts (sorry, folks, no pink and green hair here) complemented (?) t-shirts with rolled-up sleeves and old, skinny neckties. Glitter make-up and torn jeans completed the look for the barrage of punk parties. Let's face it — preppy was popular, but punk was FUN! Oh, and don't forget those safety pins!

At the other end of the spectrum was the classic, or town-and-country, look. Suddenly, tweed jackets with tailored shirts and trouser slacks were sprouting everywhere. Most of the male population looked as though they had just stepped out of the cover of Gentlemen's Quarterly. Surely, we were dressed for the roles of county squire or wealthy heiress. "Casual, but dressy" was the motto — "smart without being stuffy."

But we couldn't stay dressed up all the time. So . . . into our ever-lovin' blue jeans— but this time with a difference! Thanks to the success of Dallas and Urban Cowboy we donned cowboy hats, boots and plaid shirts in an effort to reconstruct the wild, wild West. Well, here at Valpo, anything is possible!

With the rise of western wear came the beginning of the end for disco clothes. To be sure, the glitter, bare shoulders and flowing skirts were still popular and probably will remain so — but the days when every outfit was slicked up for flash and not necessarily for comfort are gone.

So Valpo displayed various fashion trends and fads in 1980. We were consistent in our contradictions. Each of us was able to showcase the different facets of our personality with several outfits. We experimented to our hearts' content and finally found something to please all of us.

Vive la difference!

Campus Life/food

So . . . where do YOU eat?

Maybe you are one of the 1,410 persons who were on meal plan spring semester . . . or perhaps on a fraternity meal plan . . . or cooking with a group of friends . . . or fending for yourself. The Beacon survey responses indicated a variety of ways of coping with this basic human need. Not surprisingly, more females than males chose to cook for themselves — but everyone had a comment on the merits/demerits of meal plan.

What you said:

I've gone off meal plan because . . .

- I like eating at my convenience and I need the practice
- of the taste, cost and lack of courtesy
- V.U. food isn't fun to eat
- I can save almost $200
- I don't have to pay for meals I don't eat
- I gained 10 lbs. freshman year with the starches
- I was sick of eating garbage
- I like food and they fail to meet that basic need

I've stayed on meal plan because . . .

- otherwise I'd just eat Doritos and peanut butter sandwiches
- it's nice to eat with other people
- I hate to clean dishes
- dad pays!
- I'm an inept cook
- every day becomes an adventure!
- I genuinely like the food and I get to fill up
- my stomach is not accustomed to delicious food
- it's convenient

Greek's pizza voted best in Valpo

"What's one of the first things a freshman asks the R.A.? 'Where do you get your pizza from?' And what do they say? ... 'Greek's.'"

According to Mike Karamesines, owner of The Greek's Pizzeria, that initial recommendation develops into a four-year love affair for many V.U. students. And a campus-wide survey conducted by the Beacon confirms the fact that Greek's is the place for pizza in Valpo.

But Greek's wasn't always the students' favorite. As a matter of fact, Greek's wasn't always Greek's.

For 17 years Mike's parents operated a little restaurant, called the Tropicana, at 454 Greenwich. In 1969, when they retired, he took over the business and gradually converted it into a pizzeria.

It wasn't an easy road to success. "I used to go 25 or 30 days without a day off when we started," says Mike. "It took a lot of perseverance and sticking with it — but it's finally paid off. We've got a profitable business now, and every year has become better and better."

Mike emphasizes that it's the pizza that draws customers to Greek's. "At a place like ours, you know you're coming to eat the pizza, not to look around," he says. "But even if I had 10 restaurants, they'd all be small. You don't need a $500,000 place to be successful."

Mike's conquest of Valpo certainly proves that. An additional measure of his success, though, is the close customer relationship he has developed.

"We've made a lot of good friends here, at V.U. in particular — friends who keep in touch wherever they go," he says. "Alumni come back for homecoming and make it a point to stop by and visit. That's when it all really pays off."

Like the list of friends, Greek's business continues to grow year by year.

"I went to graduation a couple of years ago," says Mike, "and looked at the front row of seniors. I said to myself, 'My God — all of them are my customers. What am I going to do next year?'"

"But it just keeps getting better and better."

WHO SHOT J.R.: FINALLY, AN ANSWER

The second southern heat wave of the year swept the country last fall, as Dallas fever reached epidemic proportions. On Nov. 21, 83 million Americans turned on their television sets for (finally!) the answer to the summer's most popular question: Who shot J.R.? America's favorite villain and the star of the nighttime soap opera, as it came out, was shot by his sister-in-law and mistress, Kristin Shepard. The show not only prompted the incredible "Western" craze that captivated the nation, but the Nov. 21 episode set a new Nielsen record for the all-time most-watched commercial program.

J.R. Ewing (Larry Hagman) America's favorite villain.

General Hospital edges out All My Kids as Valpo's top soap opera

Surprisingly enough, a large number of guys as well as girls said that they tuned into soap operas.

The story of Luke and Laura's flight, and subsequent flighty romance helped General Hospital beat out All My Children — despite Cliff and Nina's problems — for the campus' favorite soap opera.

The two programs combined to win nearly half the survey votes, outdistancing by far all the other seldom-mentioned soaps.

Happy news for some, though, is the fact that more respondents said that they didn't watch any soap than the total of all who said they did.

TV

M*A*S*H STILL TOPS AT V.U.

Perhaps the nicest thing about the 1980-1 television "season" was the fact that its premiere was delayed by an actors' strike. That translates into less summer reruns!

On the serious side, however, viewers protested when Archie Bunker's "Dingbat" died — how could All in the Family ever be the same?

But "all in the family" took on a different meaning with the establishment of the nighttime soap opera as a staple of television lineups. Shows like Dynasty, Flamingo Road, and Secrets of Midland Heights tried to capitalize on the Dallas success with plenty of intrigue, sex and family conflict.

In the Beacon's campus-wide survey, however, an old stand-by remained tops on Valpo viewers' lists: M*A*S*H was voted overwhelmingly the campus' favorite program.

Archie Bunker lost dingbat Edith in a November episode.

Music

Trendy music finds a groove

Yes, trendy music was in — but there were few real trends established in the 1980 music world. The B-52's and Devo made a quick splash with their new wave rock. Record stores sold $45,000,000 worth of Kenny Rogers albums during the year. Bruce Springsteen performed for sellout audiences all around the country. Newcomers like Christopher Cross and Air Supply shot to the top of the charts. And John Lennon's death shocked even those who weren't Beatle fans.

What you said:

The album most worth my money was (in order of preference) ...

Theater

Deaf open eyes of theatergoers in "Children of a Lesser God"

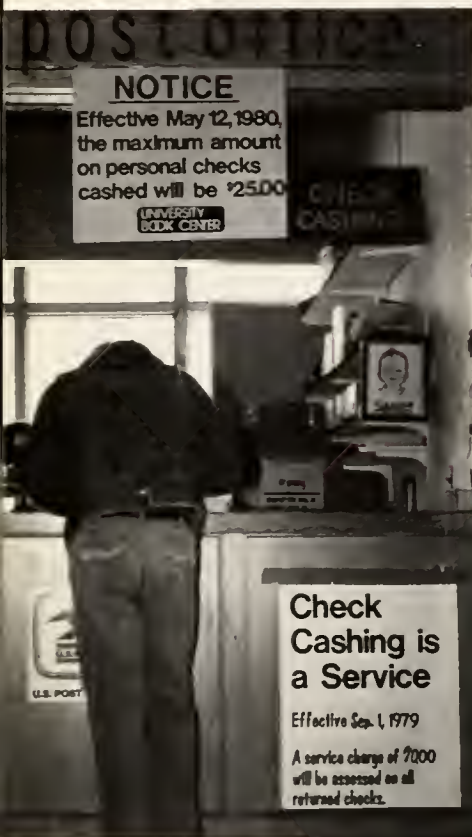

Broadway's two smash hits this year couldn't have been more different. Evita, voted top musical at the Tony Awards, is loud and flashy. Its entire script, depicting the life of Argentina's Eva Peron, is sung.

Meanwhile, the year's best play, Children of a Lesser God, struck a different note. Its emphasis is upon characters, not sets. The story is about a deaf girl, determined to remain outside the hearing world, who refuses to lip read or speak. She meets and falls in love with a deaf-school teacher, and eventually marries him. Their story, related in both sign language and spoken translation, attempts to destroy the myth that the deaf are "children of a lesser God."

It's become a "time for all reasons" — 10:00 to 10:45

Long gone are the days of mandatory chapel attendance at V.U. One of the favorite questions contained in the 1980-81 Beacon survey asked what your favorite 10:00-10:45 activity is. Although a large number of students still replied "chapel," there was great variety in the answers. Some of the most popular: eat breakfast, write letters, sleep, do homework, talk, and ... wake up!

During chapel break, you can (clockwise from top) go to chapel, of course; have a cup of coffee with a prof; check your mailbox in Alumni; watch The Love Boat, like nursing students in LeBien; or, everyone's favorite, cash a check at the book store.

What you said:

My favorite thing to do during chapel break is . . .

- "go to chapel . . . what else?"*
- "curl my hair and put more makeup on"*
- "roam the halls and visit unsuspecting people who leave their doors open"*
- "relax, talk, perhaps have a cigarette"*
- "cram for an exam"*
- "take a break — it's the only one I get all day"*
- "Spend some time on my own with God"*
- "drink!"*
- "watch Wheel of Fortune"*
- "sit on the fourth floor of DeMotte Hall"*
- "have a bagel"*
- "relax and get over the frustration from Organic Chem."*
- "visit with people I wouldn't have a chance to see if we didn't have a chapel break"*
- "type a paper that's due at 10:45"*
- "come back to my room, clean my room, then relax and enjoy a clean room"*
- "take showers"*
- "catch up on the homework that's due the next hour"*
- "catch up on the homework that was due yesterday"*
- "have my breakfast of peanut butter and crackers with hot tea and honey"*
- "eat donuts at Urschel Hall on Wednesdays"*
- "nothing"*
- "play guitar"*
- "read the newspaper"*
- "take a break with an ice-cold soda and some soft James Taylor"*
- "take a nap in C.C. commons"*

Getting away from it all

Bzzzzzz . . . the alarm's jangling sound jars you out of a sweet dream. Roll over, squint at the clock . . . 6:30. 6:30??

You lay back and groan . . . another day. Dull. Routine. The same old classes. Dull. Routine. The same old campus. Dull. Routine.

You peel your eyelids apart and crawl out of bed, staggering toward the window. Not looking forward to the anticipated outcome, you tentatively poke your nose between the drapes. Yep, it's snowing. Again. And there's not a snow plow in sight. And you have an 8:00 at Kroencke. And a 9:05 at Meier. And no boots.

You sit down on the bed, leaning your head on your hands with a sigh.

"I've gotta get out of here."

It doesn't take a snowy day to induce getaway fever. The cause can be anything from an obnoxious roommate to a 20-page seminar paper written and typed in two nights, or just that old homesick feeling. Maybe it's just the same old faces which are seen over and over again that make it difficult to cope.

Whatever the reason, Valpo students have the answer. Depressed about life? Try the chapel, morning or night. Need companionship? Friday happy hours could be the thing for you. Can't make it through the all-nighter? Grab a friend and run to Donut Hut. Need a reminder of culture? Southlake Mall (if you're into shopping) and Holiday Star Theater (entertainment) are only a short drive away. And, of course, Chicago's close and full of ideas, if you have the time.

— Julie Liesse

Reutlingen: helping

When was the last time you rented a Scheissle on the island of Mallorca? Or talked with President Schnabel holding a beer? Or ate boiled goat smothered in olive oil at a restaurant in Greece? Or drank a beer from each of Munich's breweries at Oktoberfest? Or sang "Ol' Doc Riedel had a bus?" Or were caught by the East German police for playing a ceremonial football game on Homecoming Day?

These are just a few of the memories we'll always have from our semester in Reutlingen. The semester was not all fun and games, however, and "Doc" Riedel constantly reminded us that it was a V.U. semester, complete with classes and homework and exams. We learned a lot in the classroom, but our education was complemented by the opportunities to meet and experience the German and European peoples and cultures. We could try out that new verb tense when talking with the “dreams come true”

German students, or see those cathedrals of which we had seen so many slides in art class.

We were able to do what we before could only dream of, and we could do what we wanted to do. If someone wanted to do something else, fine. Each of us had the freedom and ability to make our own dreams come true. The friendships we gained will serve not only as living memories of Reutlingen, but also as the sources of fun times back here at Valpo. Living together for four months has turned the one-time strangers into good friends we'll always have.

I've said this before, and I'll say it again: Germany, and all of Europe, is a magical place, where dreams can and do come true!

Tschuss!!

Cambridge '80: "The Yanks are here!"

Four months of living out a dream seems to be what everyone in our group experienced this fall while on the Overseas Study Program in Cambridge, England.

Throw 20 people together, most of whom have never met, and you come up with a most memorable and cherished experience. Add to this our director, Mr. Pick, and two or three English professors, combine it with persons met along the way and a new world begins to open up before you.

The group grew close, for everyone shared at least one thing in common — we were foreigners in a strange land. Sure, we could speak the language. But the differences between the two cultures run much deeper than words.

There were plenty of people to make us feel welcome, though. Every member of our group will remember our first experience in a local pub, "The Grapes." No sooner had we set foot in the door than we heard the thunderous voice of Maggie, the pub owner, proclaiming, "The Yanks are here." It was great to know that someone cared.

Many of us were also welcomed into homes by drivers who had picked us up only minutes earlier. Hitch-hiking was a great way to experience this cultural phenomenon.

Since classes ended on Thursday at noon, we had plenty of opportunities to just set off for anywhere we desired. Yes, even going to Wales for the weekend is not out of the question, as part of the group proved.

The best part, however, was returning to hear where everyone else had been. We were like a three-ring circus on those Sunday nights, as parts of the group came filtering through the door, one after the other.

Classes reinforced what we saw, and every one of us began to discover what the words culture and heritage really mean. Coming face to face with a Rembrandt or Renoir painting and understanding what we were seeing gave a great feeling of personal satisfaction.

Good times, too, were spent in Cambridge. Whether sipping a pint of bitter in Reminders of the group's roots could be seen all around England, like the window top left. Kent Hollis and Aileen Buckley, middle left, enjoy a day of punting on the Cam River in Cambridge. The market in Cambridge, bottom left, was indispensable. Visits to sights like Warwick Castle, top right, helped group members appreciate "what the words culture and heritage really mean." one of the more than 100 pubs, or watching B.B.C.-TV, it was certainly a change from anything we had known. Drinking warm, uncarbonated beer may not sound appealing, but seldom will you hear a complaint from those who tried it. We grew accustomed to being offered a drink in exchange for leisurely talk about the U.S. national election.

We not only saw the sights, but we became a part of the English culture for the brief amount of time we resided there. Shopping at the outdoor market or attempting to learn the English banking system are things that never sound like fun until you try them.

Just taking a stroll through Cambridge alerted the eye to new things in a magical sort of way. Listening to an acapella boys' choir in the "King's College Chapel" can provide a spiritual experience.

Often as we visited these beautiful and spacious cathedrals, we could not speak to one another, but only stand in awe. Whether at Ely Cathedral or the Cathedral in Salisbury, the effect was always the same — and never grew old.

Someone once told me that we were made to be with other people, and that we were given faces not for ourselves but for others. The meaning of this statement was apparent in our travels. Wherever we went, we always met and spoke to others ... perhaps in a youth hostel in Scotland, or in that lorry that stopped to give us a ride. We owe a great deal to these people, for they gave us a valuable education.

We are back now — with perhaps just a little different outlook than that which went over with us. The closeness that we had and the times that we shared continue to bind us together as we cling desperately to four months of a dream come true.

Although it's great to be back, there isn't one of us who wouldn't jump at the chance to return. That is not to say, however, that we don't appreciate our own country more than ever.

It is not uncommon to see a member of the group hugging another member — for we have developed that kind of close relationship. If asked about our trip, we are likely to get a little choked up. Each one of feels extremely lucky to have made this journey.

Wherever we may roam, Cambridge memories will continue to bind us together.

Chapel tower finally rings real bells

The V.U. Guild celebrated its fiftieth anniversary with the purchase of nine bronze bells for the Brandt Campanile — the chapel bell tower. The bells, installed this past summer, range in weight from 1,782 to 264 pounds. Dedicated and rung for the first time on September 26, they helped the Valpo community celebrate the return of the 52 American hostages from Iran on January 20, as they rang in unison with area church bells.

Top left, the bells arrive for a summer installation, top right. Following the dedication ceremony, right, the bells chimed every quarter-hour during the school year.

Campus news

The school year 1980-81 passed like so many others at Valpo. The first snow of the year arrived on October 25, followed by a mild winter — until a February freeze. The old controversies were still around — a monopolistic bookstore, a too-small Student Senate budget. But the campus moved close to adopting a plan for co-ed dorms in the face of declining enrollment. Campus was brightened by the presence of John Dean, Alex Haley, Gene Siskel and Jean-Michel Cousteau. The low spot of the year came when an estimated 1,200 students came down with the flu in mid- January.

Old faces Smith, Henry back to haunt V.U.

And we thought we wouldn't have Paul Henry and Jeff Smith to kick around anymore . . .

It was no surprise to find Henry complaining, in the January 19 Torch, about the paper's comparison of him and Richard Nixon.

Smith's victory over the administration, in the form of a $125 salary withheld when his Lighter went over budget last spring, was more unexpected.

Jeff Smith's legacy to the V.U. student body — several hundred unread Lighters, above — was shipped to him in November by Student Senate president Doug Evans.

Old campus razed

Valpo lost a little of its heritage as several Old Campus buildings were torn down over the summer. Included were Altruria, Bogarte and Kinsey Halls, the old Faculty Club, and the Black Cultural Center, pictured here.

Stellar performance

Dean, Haley speak Tales from two faces

It was the best of times for V.U. audiences, as both John Dean and Alex Haley visited the campus.

Dean's November talk was peppered with personal recollections of the now-historical Watergate affair. Haley, whose speech celebrated the birthday of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., presented a rambling personal history in anecdotal form.

Both men brought with them an aura of excitement, evidenced by the presence of capacity crowds at their lectures.

CC's Rubel wins Distinguished Teaching Award

Dr. Warren G. Rubel, professor of humanities in Christ College, was the recipient of the 1980-81 V.U. Alumni Association Distinguished Teaching Award. This award, established in 1969, is intended to recognize outstanding faculty members and to "encourage a high level of effective teaching at Valparaiso."

Dr. Rubel, who has been a member of the V.U. faculty since 1969, received his M.Div. degree from Concordia Seminary, St. Louis; his M.A. in English from Washington University, St. Louis; and his Ph.D. from the University of Arkansas. He is coordinator of the Special Program in the Humanities, and has served as chairman of the V.U. Visual Arts Council and the V.U. Sloan Committee. He is also involved with various other organizations at V.U., such as the Educational Policy Committee.

What is it, though, that makes Dr. Rubel "distinguished?" He himself thinks that "the value (of the award) is a symbolic one in which we pay tribute not to any single teacher, but to teaching in general."

His students, though, especially those who nominated him for the award, seem to feel that it is even more than that. Dr. Rubel has been called teasingly "the man who knows (almost) everything." He is famous for his ability to quote almost anyone on almost any subject. It has even been said that his only truly original comment is "I'm teasing . . . part-

Seriously, though, Dr. Rubel thinks that the student-teacher relationship is a vital one: "What I like about teaching is the honesty of the student-teacher relationship in developing interests, skills and knowledge in a subject matter area. Convention in the classroom is less rigid than it is elsewhere in society."

Rubel's students seem to agree with this. Most feel that he is concerned and caring towards them, not only on an academic, but often on a personal level. One student commented, "He's pretty busy, but when I get a chance to talk to him it's really satisfying. He seems to understand and sympathize with students' problems. He also tries to be honest with you, and even if he's not happy with you — say if you have a very late paper — he at least lets you know how he feels, and tries to help if he can."

Rubel does, indeed, seem to take the "whole" student into account in his educational philosophy. The goal of undergraduate education, he says, is to "see the student become an independent, critical, responsible and productive human being." The question, therefore, is "How can the teacher provide the atmosphere for this?"

The answer to this question seems to be what teaching is all about for Dr. Rubel — and this, perhaps, is what makes any teacher "distinguished."

Faculty dogs: brightening the classroom

Honey Bear lends touch of warmth to Maxwell's classes

Professor Maxwell and Honey Bear.

Who sleeps through most of Professor Richard Maxwell's English classes — and gets away with it? Whose jingling collar and clicking nails announce the professor's arrival from down the hall? ... Honey Bear, a four-and-a-half year old Golden Retriever, that's who.

Honey Bear enjoys attending Professor Maxwell's classes because she enjoys people. Or maybe it's really the Othello lectures that attract her.

Honey Bear brings a warm atmosphere to the classroom and can help any apprehensive freshman relax with a friendly lick on the nose. "She loves anyone who wants to be loved," says Maxwell.

During the warm weather Honey Bear welcomes a quick frisbee game with anyone who has a good arm ... Just don't interfere with Shakespeare.

Elfin relaxes in master Hansis' Kroencke office.

After a few hours in "jail", one would think that Elfin would have learned a lesson about running away from campus. But she never has.

Elfin is a lively Irish Setter whose frequent wanderings worry her masters Jim Eng and V.U. professor Dick Hansis.

Elfin, despite all her travels, usually can be found in Kroencke Hall, roaming in and out of Hansis' geography classes. However, geography is not her only interest — it's not surprising to feel her wagging tail and cold nose under the table during a Con Law, Public Relations or Speech and Drama class.

A vegetarian who loves the snow, Elfin would not think of passing up a chance to give a rabbit or squirrel a hard time.

She usually accompanies Hansis on bicycle trips. On a cool day, traveling at speeds around 20 m.p.h., this five-year-old endures three or four miles.

In words and pictures, the Beacon tells the story of life together at Valparaiso University. The "stories" of individual persons, of the gathered members of the campus community, and of the University in all its dimensions are intricately intertwined. Each of us comes to know himself or herself by reflecting on personal experiences and those of his or her parents, ancestors, associates and friends in the course of individual, family and community life. Each of us is shaped by events and associations encountered in life.

The story unfolded in this 1981 Beacon is your story, our story. The words and pictures capture selected events and persons from particular angles of vision. Some of the words and pictures will evoke in memory times of joy and accomplishment, some will remind us of difficulty and testing, even regret. All of these are part of our story and of the "way things were." With each passing year, the value of this verbal and pictorial record of your "Valpo years" will take on added meaning.

Our Valpo story has its roots in Jesus of Nazareth, Son of God and Son of Man, and in the two thousand-year history of the Christian Church's encounter with the legacy of civilization in arts, sciences and professional studies. Valparaiso has its being because men and women of the Christian faith believe in, support and sustain it as a university whose story marks the convergence of the sacred and the secular. For them, as for all of us at Valpo today, the University has its being only because of the birth, life, death, triumphant resurrection and gracious rule of God's Son, and because His "story" has been preserved for us in the Scriptures, given as a "beacon" to call His story to our remembrance.

It is our greatest hope and most earnest prayer that all who have participated in the Valpo story, captured in part in the pages of the Beacon, will find their lives enriched by their Valpo years and blessed by the Light of the World, Whose "story" is the ground of the University's being and the source of meaning and purpose of our past, present and future life stories.

“Pleasing all of the people all of the time”

Union Board is that lucky organization whose job it is to please all of the people all of the time. This year UB was entrusted with $32,000 of your money to fill in the gaps between studying and boredom here at Valparaiso University. In order to accommodate the tastes of a majority of students on campus, Union Board tries, in its programming, to meet these needs through the efforts of its eleven committees.

This year these committees have brought to you: College Bowl, the Madrigal Dinners, the Weekend Film Series, a Wolf River rafting trip, two canoeing trips, a bicycle trip, Outdoor Recreation Center camping equipment, a new sound system, the concert and coffeehouse series, Jean-Michel Cousteau, John Dean, a Fine Arts Festival, Homecoming, Spring Weekend, a trip to the Bahamas, the Chicago restaurant trips, “Night on the Town” buses, tickets to Pure Prairie League and Annie, approximately forty mini-courses, a used book sale and an all-nighter featuring Rocky Horror Picture Show. It’s too bad there is “nothing to do on campus!”

Although all Union Board committees put in many hours of planning, the Films and Professional Entertainment Committees keep you entertained with weekly programs. This past year films ranging in taste from Rocky Horror to Sleeping Beauty have been shown. Hopefully, we satisfied as many people as possible with the funds available. Also, coffeehouses and concerts featured artists whose music included gospel rock, folk, blues, country rock, jazz, rock and bluegrass. With its small budget and lack of an appropriate facility, the Entertainment committee was unable to sponsor a major concert this year — although we did receive many requests for the Bee Gees and Led Zeppelin. However, concerts and coffeehouses did not lack major talent. Among the highlights were “Big Twist and the Mellow Fellows," "Ouray," Harry Waller and Corky Siegel. All of the entertainment sponsored by Union Board is the best to be found in Chicago and the Midwest. If you missed them — because you figured they weren't worth listening to since you hadn't heard their latest hit on WKQX — you lost. Ask those who attended.

Of course, Union Board realizes that we cannot please all of the people all of the time . . . but we try. It is not easy to compete with fraternity parties and, more importantly, student apathy. What can we do when the reason students don't attend concerts is because "it's too far to walk to the Union," or when they complain about paying $1 for an $800 band, dance and free use of the Rec Center? This becomes discouraging to the twelve individuals who give up hours of their time organizing committees, attending meetings and programming activities which are aimed at getting students out of the dorms and frat houses to do something different. We just keep forgetting that it is along walk to the Union from Kreinheder and that $1 is an outrageous price for a good concert. Maybe roaming minstrels is the answer.

There is very little that we can do without input from you. Union Board needs to know your ideas and suggestions to better fit programming to your needs. Please let us know good news, bad news — or any news about our efforts. Better yet, get involved with Union Board.

We, the members and chairpersons of UB feel that our organization is special, because we are expected to do so much with so little. Those of you who have attended our programs know how much we accomplish. I hope that in the future, the rest of you will at least give us a chance. We think you'll be pleased.

— Susan Graebner

Hey Guys . . . Guys . . . Yea, thanks . . . Uh this is my friend Joe . . . Joe Bunda. He's thinking about becoming involved. Yea, involved, so I thought I might explain some of the stuff that we do. What's that? Yea, besides chasing secretaries. Well . . . Let's see . . . Committees, that's a good place to start. We've got Union Board. I'd ask Graebner to explain it for you but I'd like to get through before 3 a.m. She's talking to Barnes anyway. Union Board puts on all the movies and concerts, some speaking engagements, outdoor recreation trips (Graebner loves those), Homecoming and a whole bunch of other stuff. Let's see, then there's C.O.R. That's Hern's department . . . Yea, I know, she's stac . . . Er, I mean she's terribly efficient. C.O.R. stands for Committee on Residence Halls. Its main purpose is to work with the dorms and ensure the highest quality of life there. Then, of course, there's Dave Erickson who's chairman of the Committee on Publications . . . Joe? . . . No, Hern has nothing to do with C.O.P. . . . No, Joe . . . I don't know if she's busy later . . . Come on, will ya? Now C.O.P. sets policy for all the publications here on campus. Yea right, the Torch, the Lighter, and the Beacon (We mustn't forget the Beacon).

There's Hurlbut . . . He's chairman of the Committee on Broadcasting. Right, the funny looking guy with the camera. Committee on Broadcasting helps set policy for WVUR, the campus radio station.

Then, of course, you have Jimmy B., who is chairman of Committee on Off-Campus Com-muter Students. Jimmy is a hard worker. He gets a lot done for off-campus students, particularly when it involves calling this expert girl in Oak Brook for advice. Between the two of them they always come up with a solution. Right, Jimmy?

Well, so much for standing committees. There's also a whole bunch of ad hoc committees that are established as they are needed. What? Oh yes, Student Senate, how could I forget. Well, Student Senate is a legislative body that issues policy on behalf of the students. Among other things, the Senate approves a budget of some $130,000 drawn up by that guy there. Yea, the one with every hair in place, the impeccable smile, the alligator shirt and Calvin Kleins, Cliff Bryan. And what about Lori and Mitch? They handle the books and will make them balance (for the first time in the last ten years). Without them we'd be lost because I sure couldn't make them balance. Well now, let's see . . . What am I forgetting . . . (she's getting mad). Oh yes! Linda. She's there, see her? I know she's short, but you can see. She is basically in charge of all the things that come out of my office. Rachel and Lisa help out with secretarial duties.

Well that's basically it, Joe. What do ya thi . . . what? What do I do? Well now, let me see, besides chasing the secretaries? Um . . . ah, well, I fix the ditto machines and I ah . . . yell and scream about the budget and I write letters and have meetings and chair the Senate. I have offered to run around the tundra in January wearing only jockey shorts . . . What's that, Joe? No, I don't know why more people don't get involved. You're perfectly right, Joe . . . We do have a lot of fun. Yes, it is a great experience . . . Will I miss it? Ya know, Joe, I miss it already . . .

The Torch

The 1980-81 Torch considered people and issues the hallmark of a good student newspaper. Student involvement, student interest, and student orientation were considered goals to be maximized. Issues such as the poor racial relations, the inadequate library, and the more inadequate faculty office situation were dug into deeply. The students were also kept aware of national issues, especially the Presidential campaign. Increased use of photography, guest columns, and feature stories were noted features of the 1980-81 Torch.

Eta Sigma Phi

Eta Sigma Phi is VU's national classics honorary society. In order to become a member, a student must have attained at least a 3.0 average in upper division Latin or Greek. Activities include a variety of lectures, parties, and tours.

Eta Sigma Phi. Kneeling (l to r): K. Scheiwe, W. Rast, S. Pera. Row 1: J. Koerner, L. Bauer, S. Burrow, R. Gunther. Row 2: J. Helms, D. Kirschbaum, R. Verner, M. Kumpf.

Omicron Delta Epsilon

Omicron Delta Epsilon is the national economics honor society. Although the membership was rather limited this year, the group hopes to expand in the future. Eligibility requirements are at least 12 hours of economics with at least a "B" average. If you qualify and wish to join, feel free to contact Prof. Heinze.

Sigma Delta Pi

Sigma Delta Pi is the Spanish honor society on campus. Its goal is to recognize those who achieve excellence, not only in the study of the Spanish language, but in the study of Spanish culture and literature as well.

Phi Alpha Theta

Phi Alpha Theta, the international history honorary society, sponsors all-campus trips of historical interest. Two Saturdays in the spring semester were spent in Chicago visiting various museums, and another was spent touring the Amish communities of North Central Indiana.

Kappa Omicron Phi

Kappa Omicron Phi, the home economics honor society, aims to further the best interests of Home Economics in a variety of ways: by encouraging scholastic excellence, developing leadership, and promoting fellowship among faculty and students of the profession.

Chi Beta Alpha

Chi Beta Alpha is a business honorary fraternity organized last spring on campus to recognize scholastic achievement in the College of Business Administration.

ASCE

Officers: D. Graffis, N. Dhaens, J. Rubke, G. Smith (Pres.).

The College of Engineering has four student organizations. The General Engineering Society coordinates activities for all members of the College, like the Engineers' Day. The other three groups are student branches of national organizations open to individuals in specialized fields - American Society of Civil Engineers, American Society of Mechanical Engineers, and the Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers.

GES

Officers: P. Bramstedt, K. Truttschel.

Home Economics Association

The Home Economics Association provides professional development of collegiate home economics students. The Association sponsors many speakers throughout the year and sells cookbooks to finance a trip to the state convention.

Pre-Legal Society

The Pre-Legal Society sponsors speakers, shows films, and administers a practice LSAT in an effort to aid students interested in law school. Its major objective is to inform students about the options open to them in the field.

Pre-Legal Society Officers. (L to R):
G. Oman, Jr. (Pres.), I. Constan
(Treas.), F. Gloyeske (Vice-Pres.), R.
Connon (Secretary).

Valparaiso International Students Association

The purpose of the Valparaiso International Student Assoc. (VISA) is to establish communication, share experiences, and to promote mutual understanding between international students and the community. Activities include welcome receptions for new students and an "International Night", featuring international cuisines and variety entertainment from around the world.

Science Fiction Club

Science Fiction Club members share a mutual interest for "sci-fi" literature. Their main activity is to meet and exchange books and friendship.

NCAA Volunteers for Youth

A "re-born" organization on campus, the NCAA Volunteers strive to help needy junior high school youth in the Valparaiso community. They do this through a Big Brother/Big Sister program, which depends on fund-raising events such as this year's roller skate-athon and leaf-raking expedition.

NCAA Volunteers. Back: (L to R): M. Betley, S. Brand, C. Pollitz. Right: J. Gunder, J. Richter, D. Tryloff.

College Republicans

This year the College Republicans participated in various activities, including the distribution of political literature, an election-night party, and the sponsoring of a series of candidates speakers.

The Union Desk's concession stand with its candy, gums, tobacco products, sundries, and natural snack foods is probably the most familiar to Valpo students. However, it also provides a variety of other services, such as ticket sales, a lost and found, Chicago Bus sign-up, order center for posters, banners, and buttons, and a music service with 12 headphones. The reading materials include 4 newspapers, Dunes magazine, brochures, maps, current periodicals, and a master information book. Postage stamps and exam blue books are also available when the Book Center is closed.

Outdoor Recreation Committee

The Outdoor Recreation Committee's goal is to provide students with the resources needed to pursue a variety of outdoor recreational activities. It does this through providing and developing programs, renting equipment, and providing resource materials.

Outdoor Recreation Committee (L to R) S. Stahn, J. Clarke, M. Maynard, A. Eckhardt, J. Greve.

Bowling Club

Union-sponsored, the Bowling Club members bowl for free every Sunday night at the Union's Game Room. In addition, the club participates in four to five tournaments and trips each year in the Midwest area. President: Jay Daniels. Adviser: Iris Rau.

Even W.C. Fields would admit: Philly was a nice place to be in '80

Philadelphia reliever Tug McGraw helped the Phillies celebrate their first World Series triumph, over Kansas City ...

... but the Royals' George Brett demonstrated that he was anything but a runner-up, finishing the season with a .390 batting average as the A.L. M.V.P.

The City of Brotherly Love had its share of both anguish and ecstasy in 1980-81. Its franchises reached the championships of all four major national sports — baseball, football, basketball and hockey. The Phillies went on to capture their first World Series ever. Third baseman Mike Schmidt was voted Series and NL MVP. Eagle quarterback Ron Jaworski, meanwhile, led the NFC in passing and took his team to a conference championship over the Dallas Cowboys.

So much for the ecstasy.

The 76ers were the first to feel the anguish, falling to the Los Angeles Lakers in a six-game NBA championship series. Rookie Magic Johnson and league MVP Kareem Abdul-Jabbar proved too much for the Sixers and Julius Erving. One down, two to go, Philly Phans ...

New York was the next city to wreak venegance upon its eastern neighbor, as the Islanders upset the Flyers for the Stanley Cup. It was a season of upsets in the NHL, as the previously peerless Montreal Canadiens fell in the playoffs and a 19-year-old, Wayne Gretzky, tied for the scoring title. And for Philadelphia, the Flyers' defeat left one to go ...

The Philadelphia Eagles, a clean-cut, "all for one," emotional football team seemed to have an edge on the rabble-rousing Raiders, going into January's Super Bowl. But an impenetrable offensive line, three Rod Martin interceptions, and a three-touchdown performance by comeback quarterback Jim Plunkett gave Oakland the NFL trophy. So much for Philly Phans.

In addition to team championships, several individual performances made the year in professional sports a memorable one.

Bjorn Borg and John McEnroe dueled throughout the tennis season, always providing a grand show. At Wimbledon, it was Borg who prevailed to take his fifth straight singles title in five-set thriller. But in the U.S. Open, McEnroe emerged the victor after another five-set contest.

George Brett's quest of .400 kept the baseball world spellbound until incredible pressure caused the A.L. MVP to buckle and finish at only .390 (highest average in 39 years). Wow! Perhaps the most telling stats on Brett: more homeruns (24) than strikeouts (22), and 118 RBIs in just 117 games.

Houston's Earl Campbell led the NFL with 1,934 yards rushing. Jack Nicklaus, at age 40, won his 19th major tourney at the U.S. Open. NBA 1980 Rookie of the Year Larry Bird pulled the Boston Celtics up from a 29-53 season record in '79 to 61-21 in '80 and 62-20 in '81. And Roberto Duran and Sugar Ray Leonard provided boxing fans with a peach of a welterweight title bout ... Duran the first victor, then Leonard in the disappointing rematch.

On the collegiate side, DePaul, ranked #1 nationally for the second consecutive year, again choked in the NCAA basketball tourney. Bobby Knight and Indiana took the '81 championship after powerhouses like DePaul and Oregon State were upset in early rounds. In football, Herschel Walker and the Georgia Bulldogs were splendid, winning the Sugar Bowl 17-10 to take the National title.

... into the eighties

The Crusaders endured through cold Northwestern Indiana weather and 6:30 a.m. practices at Hilltop Gym to post a 16-15 season record.

The team's season began early with a March 2 departure to Georgia and Florida in the spring road trip. The VU nine played 11 games in 12 days.

"Even though we were only 5-6 (on the road trip), I thought we had a respectable trip. We only had one day of outdoor practice before our first game.

"Also compared to last year's road trip (a 2-10 venture), well, there was no comparison," commented sophomore second baseman Dan Gilmore.

The Crusaders hovered at .500 all season and needed at least a split against powerful Notre Dame in a season-ending doubleheader to mark a winning percentage for the year.

VU sprinted to a 10-0 lead in the first game and held on for a 10-7 win. A second game set back was academic; the Crusaders had their winning season.

Batting leaders for the team were Ted Serbin (.333), Lloyd McClendon (.330) and Tom DeLattre (.320). McClendon led the squad with five home runs and 27 RBI's; also, the junior from Gary, IN was chosen by the New York Mets in Major League Baseball's college draft and is currently playing for their 'A' farm club.

On the mound Jaime Macahon was the ace of the Crusader pitching staff with a 5-1 record. Southpaw John Vail led all pitchers with a 3.03 ERA.

Veteran coach inducted into Hall of Fame

Emory Bauer, Valparaiso University baseball coach, was inducted into the Indiana High School Baseball Hall of Fame last summer.

Bauer, beginning his twenty-eighth season as head coach, has a career record of 347-231. The 68-year-old Crusader mentor has led his teams to 15 Indiana Collegiate Conference (now Heartland Collegiate Conference) titles, five NCAA university division playoff appearances and six berths at the college level division.

Also inducted with Bauer at the summer ceremony were Charles O. Finley, owner of the Oakland A's, and former Notre Dame baseball coach Jake Kline.

Bauer, an alumnus of VU, has also coached football, golf, basketball and track.

“Fall ball” helps team

Fall baseball probably furnished the VU men with their only outside practice sessions before the 1981 season.

The short playing schedule featured a 100-inning marathon with St. Joe used to raise money for VU's spring trip. The Crusaders prevailed with a 30-17 victory while collecting around $800 for the spring journey.

The autumn season also allowed veteran coach Emory Bauer a look at promising freshmen: pitcher Pete Lewandowski, Gary, IN; catcher Hernan Gomez, Honduras; and Eric Bittlingmaier, first baseman, Littleton, CO.

Young netters do well

Led by freshmen Matt Kutch and Todd Englander, the men's tennis team recorded second place finishes in the Heartland Collegiate Conference championships and the Little State meet as well as finishing with a 7-4 dual meet record last spring.

Finishing one point behind conference champion Butler, the Crusaders were paced by HCC champs Todd Englander (#3 singles) and Lauren Griffith (#4 singles). Kutch and Englander won at #1 doubles while Al LeFevre and Mitch Johnson won in #3 doubles.

Matt Kutch (#1 singles), Bob Kramer (#2 singles) and Kramer and Griffith (#2 doubles) claimed firsts at the Little State meet.

Serves like this one helped freshman Matt Kutch record an 11-6 singles slate last season.

Leapers lead trackmen

The VU mens' track team, under first year coach Paul Smith, finished with a fourth place standing in the Heartland Collegiate Conference Meet.

Several outstanding individual performances highlighted the 1980 season. Senior Bob Hammond led the way with a winning long jump of 22'-1 1/2" while sophomore Brent Bultemeier recorded a first place high jump of 6'-6", both at the conference meet.

Hammond and Bultemeier teamed up again to sweep the Wabash Relays jumping events.

Grid team aims high, finishes low

In Bill Koch's first season as VU's head football coach, the Crusaders finished with a 3-6-1 record. That was 1977.

But things got moving for Koch in 1978 and 1979, with Valparaiso posting 5-4 records both years.

Going into this past season, some people thought it might be possible for the Crusaders to win the Heartland Collegiate Conference championship— that's right, first place.

However, Koch's squad encountered many problems and ended up with an overall 1980 record of 3-6-1, and a 1-5-1 last-place Heartland Conference finish.

"Obviously, it was a disappointing season," Koch said in reviewing the year.

"There were three things I could point to that worked against us. First, we were a young club. Second, we just put in a new offense this year. And third, we had more than our share of injuries.

"We had a great bunch of kids, though. They always played their hearts out," he added.

In assessing the 1980 Crusaders, the word "young" was an understatement. Twenty-nine freshmen were listed on the roster, along with 26 sophomores. In comparison, there were only 11 juniors and 13 seniors.

At the beginning of the season, Koch installed a new offense, the Wing-T. In the Wing-T, an extra half-back lines up in the backfield, instead of filling the flanker position.

According to Koch, having to learn a new style was partially responsible for the large number of turnovers the offense made. "We killed ourselves with turnovers," he said. "We had too many."

The Crusaders did turn in some big plays on offense however, including a VU record-tying 82-yard touchdown pass from Morgan Singel to Bob Uremovich against Butler. A 73-yard Singel TD pass to Tom Delattre on the "Orville Redenbacher Special" — a flea-flicker originally designed for the Popcorn Bowl — clicked a week later against Albion. Also notable was a 55-yard scoring pass from Singel to Delattre against Indiana Central.

Actually, Delattre's 55-yard touchdown reception against ICU was overshadowed in that game by his leaping 29-yarder on the game's last play, which enabled VU to tie the Greyhounds 24-24.

Delattre was the Crusaders' offensive standout player. The senior receiver caught 37 passes for 647 yards and six touchdowns, finishing his VU career with 1,003 receiving yards — good for fourth place on the all-time Crusader pass-receiving list. Delattre was cited as the Crusaders' Most Valuable Player of 1980, and was named to the second All-Heartland Conference team.

Responsible for getting the ball to Delattre and other receivers this past season were quarterbacks Singel, and Lee Plimpton. Singel, a senior, started all but the last two games of the season and threw for 1033 yards and eight touchdowns. Unfortunately, he also threw 13 interceptions, including six against Georgetown. Plimpton, a sophomore, started the season's final two games. Phil Kuntz, a freshman, saw limited action as quarterback but punted 34 times for a 36.5 yard average.

Senior fullback Mike Murray led the VU ground game with 323 yards on 75 carries, and sophomore half-back Uremovich was second with 276 yards on 79 tries.

Freshman Vince Jacobs turned in the best single-game performance by a Crusader runner with 95 yards against Evansville.

Junior guard Warren Frey was named VU's most valuable offensive lineman and earned first-team All-HCC honors.

On the defensive side, junior linebacker Kyle Lupo led the VU charge. Lupo was named Valparaiso's most valuable defensive player and was also named to the All-HCC first team. He was the team's runaway leader in tackles with 151 and also intercepted three passes. Next year, Lupo will serve as the team's only captain.

The youthful VU linebacking corps was bolstered by sophomores John Bernardi, second in tackles with 105, and Tim Andrews, fourth with 82. Freshman Scott Carter was a valuable fill-in.

Cornerback Jimmy Harris, a sophomore, picked off a team-high seven passes and was a second-team All-HCC pick. Sophomore safety Jon Steinbrecher picked off five balls and also made six of seven field goals and 14 of 16 extra points to earn second-team All-HCC place kicking honors.

Randy Riese anchored the defensive line. The senior tackle was third on the team in tackles with 87, and was a first team All-HCC pick. Senior tackle Brian McKinley was fifth in tackles with 78.

Injuries to many key players hurt the Crusaders. Halfback Paul Psomadelis was the first casualty, missing the entire year with an injury sustained before the season opener. Others that missed time due to injuries included Billy Lawson, Mike Daras, Scott Binkley, Ray McCants, Randy Riese, John Andreasik, and Brian Gumness.

Golfers take Valpo Invitational again

What could possibly be better than the 1980 golf team successfully defending the Valpo Invitational, finishing second in conference and having a freshman emerge as its top golfer?

Coach Dick Fick will hope to find the answer to that question next year as he returns all six starters from this year's promising squad.

The way the 1980 golf season began, however, made it look like the team would be in for some long rounds.

Junior Mark Mandich, expected to be VU's number one man, was knocked out for most of the season with poison sumac.

Before his loss could be felt, freshman Wally Hanas picked up the slack averaging a nifty 78 on the season and grabbing runner-up honors in two tournaments.

Mandich praised the freshman: "Hanas came in and did a tremendous job. He's a tough competitor."

Other season highlights included Al LeFevre's medalist performance at Valpo's own invitational tourney and sophomore Dave Nelson's win at the Purdue North Central Invitational.

Success in the face of adversity has left the team anxious for next season.

"We are very optimistic about next year," Mandich beamed.

Field hockey captures state

The VU field hockey team, on the strength of two overtime victories, captured the Indiana Division II State Championships.

Sheila Nolting's extra-period score against Notre Dame and Carmen Lis' overtime point against Franklin College were the shots that gave Valpo the crown in Indiana's first-ever field hockey state tournament.

The Crusaders' early season results were in no way a mirror of what was to come. The women's mid-season slate showed VU on the short end of 2-6 tag.

But four consecutive pre-tournament triumphs touched off the spark that soon turned into a blaze.

After the state tourney five VU players were named to the all-tournament team: goalie Kim Truttschel, VU's season scoring leader Carmen Lis, second leading scorer Lisa Sandberg, Kelly Vanderlin and Kathy Wiesen.

Dim season for tennis

Falling in the shadows of team accomplishments of the past three seasons, the 1980 Valparaiso University women's tennis team finished the season winning only one of eight decisions.

Skipped by first year coach Cindy Young, the netters dropped their first three dual meets and placed fourth in the seven team Notre Dame Invitational in early season action.

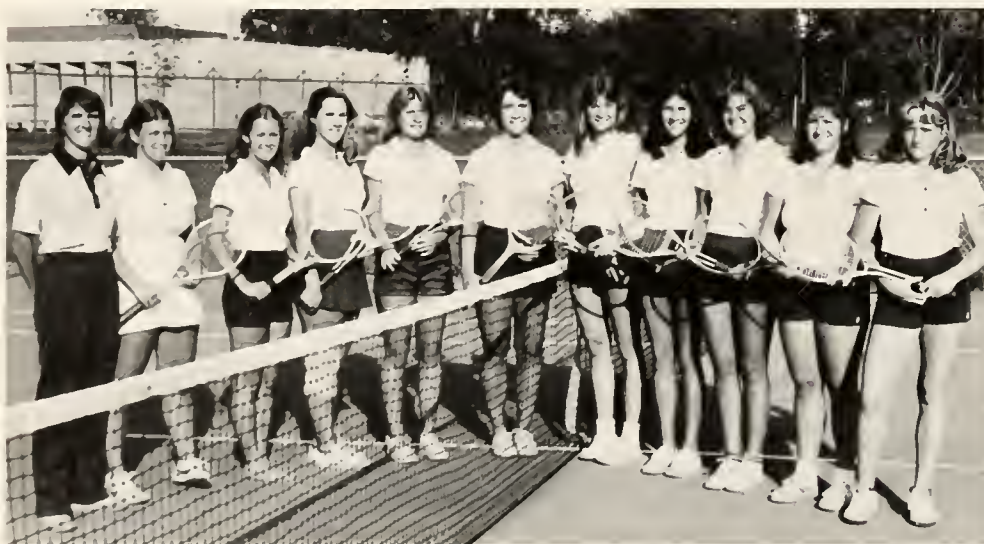

The year's lone bright spot came in a 8-1 thrashing of Taylor University. Singles players Lisa Huizenga, Sue Jenny, Erin O'Neill, Juli Bartler and Carol LeFevre along with the doubles teams of Huizenga/Bartler, O'Neill/LeFevre and Lynn Berklan/Jenny recorded victories.

The women's volleyball team, after losing 14 of its first 19 matches, finished strong with a second half surge to end up with an 19-19 record.

More important than the .500 mark, however, was the fact that Valpo began showing opponents that it can play with the best of them.

"Most schools have traditionally known us to be a weak team, but we suprised many of them by playing good, tough volleyball and staying close in our matches this season," commented senior Gigi Gloe.

Valparaiso played an improved schedule this year facing four nationally ranked squads and a pre-state tournament date with state titlist Indiana Tech.

Losing only three seniors to graduation, the spikers are looking forward to a winning season next year Gloe said.

Pick up. Jean Berning goes low to start a Crusader return as Cindy Murphy looks on.

Controversy taints soccer victories

Another season mired in the controversy of whether soccer will become a varsity sport spoiled an otherwise successful season for the VU Soccer Club.

The team's 7-3 slate, its best since 1976, didn't leave many players or fans smiling.

An approximately $90 appropriation and a waiver from paying property rental fees, both supplied by Student Senate, were the only supports the Soccer Club received from the university.

The fact soccer isn't sponsored sends many good players here to pursue their livelihood on other campus squads.

"There are a lot of good soccer players who play intramurals instead of with the club because it's not varsity.

"If the administration would approve our budget, these players would join the team and we could compete on Division II or possibly Division I level," commented Terry Keating, a midfielder who missed the season because of an injury.

The 1980 season saw the soccer club posting impressive wins over North Central, St. Joe (twice) and DePaul.

VU came close to avenging a 5-0 opening loss to Notre Dame, but succumbed to the larger rostered, more organized Irish 4-2 in a late season contest.

The team also dropped a 4-3 heartbreaker to Northwestern, in which the Crusaders were staked to a 3-0 halftime lead.

Copping individual honors on the club were co-captain Milan Damjanovic as Most Valuable Player and fellow co-captain Greg Plano as Best Offensive Player. Rookie of the Year Ramon Bustamante led the team with 14 goals.

As the season ended, many seniors wished the team success in the future. Even the farewells, though, contained hope for university sponsorship soon.

Damjanovic bid good-bye to his returning teammates. "May your future teams be winners," he declared, "and may they be varsity."

The perfect soccer player? Reggie Canez appears to have three legs as he winds up on a crossing pass.

Inward bound. Freshman Joel Brighton, who shared the club's best defensive player of the year award, aims a throw-in.

Youthful gymnasts bring new respect

Three-hour-a-day practices and an influx of young talent have added up to a new respect for the VU gymnastics team.

Second-year coach Caren Cowles has already noticed the difference in how other schools rank Valpo.

"We've come a long way this year in gaining respect from other schools. Last year at meets we had to compete in the morning against weaker teams, but now we're scheduled in the afternoon against tougher competition including Division I schools."

Some of the reasons for VU resurgence in gymnastics are freshmen Holly Adams, Elisa Dougherty and Tina Wiggins and junior Kelly Clausen who have all put in solid duty as the team's all-around competitors.

Dougherty, from Youngstown, NY, has been the most consistent performer for the gymnasts, posting the season's high score 32.2 (out of 40 points) against UW-Milwaukee and scoring a 31 against Triton Jr. College. Wiggins, from Merrillville, scored the season's high mark in an individual event, with an 8.5 in vaulting.

The team won't have a spring break because of practice for the AIAW Regionals at Hilltop Gym on March 21.

"We have a chance to qualify the team or at least one or two gymnasts for national (Division II) competition. I hope we can take all the girls — after spending spring break in Valpo, I'm sure they wouldn't mind a small vacation in Virginia," Cowles concluded.

Consistent performance. Elisa Dougherty has been Valpo's steadiest all-around gymnast this season.

Basketball program moves forward

The young VU basketball program took its first big step towards Division I maturity this season.

Valpo took this stride before the season even started by naming Tom Smith the new basketball coach. Smith's appointment gave hope to disappointed fans and administrators that something could be done to improve Valpo basketball.

Smith, an NCAA College Division Honorable Mention All-American during his playing days here, came to VU from Central Missouri State University where he led the "Mules" to a 26-2 Division II record.

His philosophy of ball-hawking defense and a disciplined, pattering offense were evident in VU's first three contests, a win over Montana State and victories over Tri-State and Northland. Although Valpo probably owed a word of thanks to the scheduler for easier contests to start off the season, these games especially the Montana State duel — showed both the players and fans that VU would be competitive this year.

This was a close game down to the wire, highly reminiscent of close games that Valpo would have and did lose in the past. But, although many fans were preparing to taste bitter defeat, something different happened Valpo won.

The three opening victories showed the fans that there might be more than three or four victories at the end of the season. This optimism led to a larger campus basketball audience and renewed enthusiasm in the fans.

VU carried its unblemished record into heavy fire, sandwiching road losses, one to Loyola and a 53-point embarrassment to reigning Missouri Valley Conference Champs Bradley, around a home win over Lewis.

Valpo lost to Notre Dame and dropped a home heartbreaker to Southern Illinois 60-50 when Jeff Simmons' last-second shot bounced off the rim.

The Crusaders continued through the season winning the games that they were expected to win and came close to an upset before losing at Evansville.

The Valpo five will be hard pressed to finish over .500 on the season playing against the likes of Illinois State and Marquette, but VU's biggest game of the season won't be played on the court or even during the remainder of the season.

Losing two senior starters, center Morris Smith (13.6 ppg, 9.4 rpg) and forward Craig Maass (8.7 ppg, 3.6 rpg), Valpo will have to fare well in the recruiting wars to keep the program moving forward.

Assistant Coach Dick Fick, VU's principal recruiter, will have to find several players capable of contributing right away in order to make the recruiting season a success.

Valpo's next steps will be the most crucial to Crusader basketball. They will decide whether future teams will walk on their Division I opponents or be trampled underfoot.

A night at the game

A test? Blow it off. Sick? Take some aspirin. There's a game tonight.

The Crusader basketball team, complete with a new coach, a few new players and a much more disciplined style of play, did something this year that it had been unable to do for the past three years: put people in the gym.

Hilltop, which in sound levels in those past years could have been mistaken for a mausoleum during game nights, became filled with shrieks and cheers, and the unprintable mutterings that should be heard in a gym during an intercollegiate basketball game.

It isn't hard to figure out why. This year's team was more competitive than past squads; VU stayed in the game longer. This made it a lot easier for the cheerers to cheer longer, the referee razzers to razz longer and the socializers to socialize longer. Faces that were off the court soon became as familiar as those on the court.

The frats, the sororities, independents, popcorn venders, even the camera man all added to an atmosphere that one sensed pervaded Hilltop in past prosperous seasons and highlighted the fact why game nights were welcomed by larger and noisier crowds.

Basketball games became fun again.

And what the heck? If we lost the game the night still wasn't a complete loss. For 50¢ we could walk away with another "Makin' the magic happen" stadium cup to add to our collection.

Amidst the new hoopla surrounding home basketball games, it has to make one wonder. What would happen if Valparaiso University ever had a team with a winning record?

— Dave Surico

Recovering from a slow 1-4 start before Christmas break, the women's basketball team has been on an upswing and currently sports a 9-7 record.

"We lost some games at the start of the season that we probably shouldn't have and the reason for those losses still comes back to haunt us. We can't stay intense for 40 minutes every game," confided Coach Sandy Harms.

Two of the main reasons for VU's resurgence are six-foot center Carole Pollitz, whose 25-point, 16-rebound performance against University of Chicago stands out as the season's best all-around effort, and floor leader Carmen Lis, who pumped in 31 points against Concordia College.

One strategy Harms uses to combat listless play is to set her lineup to exploit the opponent's weaknesses.

Some pleasant surprises on the squad have helped her follow her strategy. Quick guard Linda Glusac is put in to speed up the fast break, while freshman Kathy Wiesen and sophomore Deb Schaak are inserted to put some spark into the forward and center spots.

This adeptness at several styles of play could help the team in this upcoming district competition.

"We'll be coming in as the underdog; we need to play our best to win," concluded Coach Harms.

Open weight hurts grapplers' season

The VU wrestlers finished the dual season with a 5-7 record.

"I'm disappointed we didn't end up at least .500, but when you forfeit a weight class all season and lose four matches by six points or less, I guess one can't complain," commented Coach Norm Amundsen.

VU wrestled open at the 126-pound weight class which meant an automatic loss of six points to the opposition every meet.

"If we had a wrestler who only tied at 126, we would have won three and tied one of those four defeats," added Amundsen.

Soph Scott Opasik led the team with a 15-4-1 record at 150 pounds. Freshman Greg Flisiak sported a 12-5-1 tally while captain Gary Doss was 12-6-1 (records include tourney matches).

Freshman heavyweight Bob Kowalski added a 10-8 mark during the season and 118-pounder Nick Petrov had an 8-6 record.

Mid-season recruiting aids swimmers

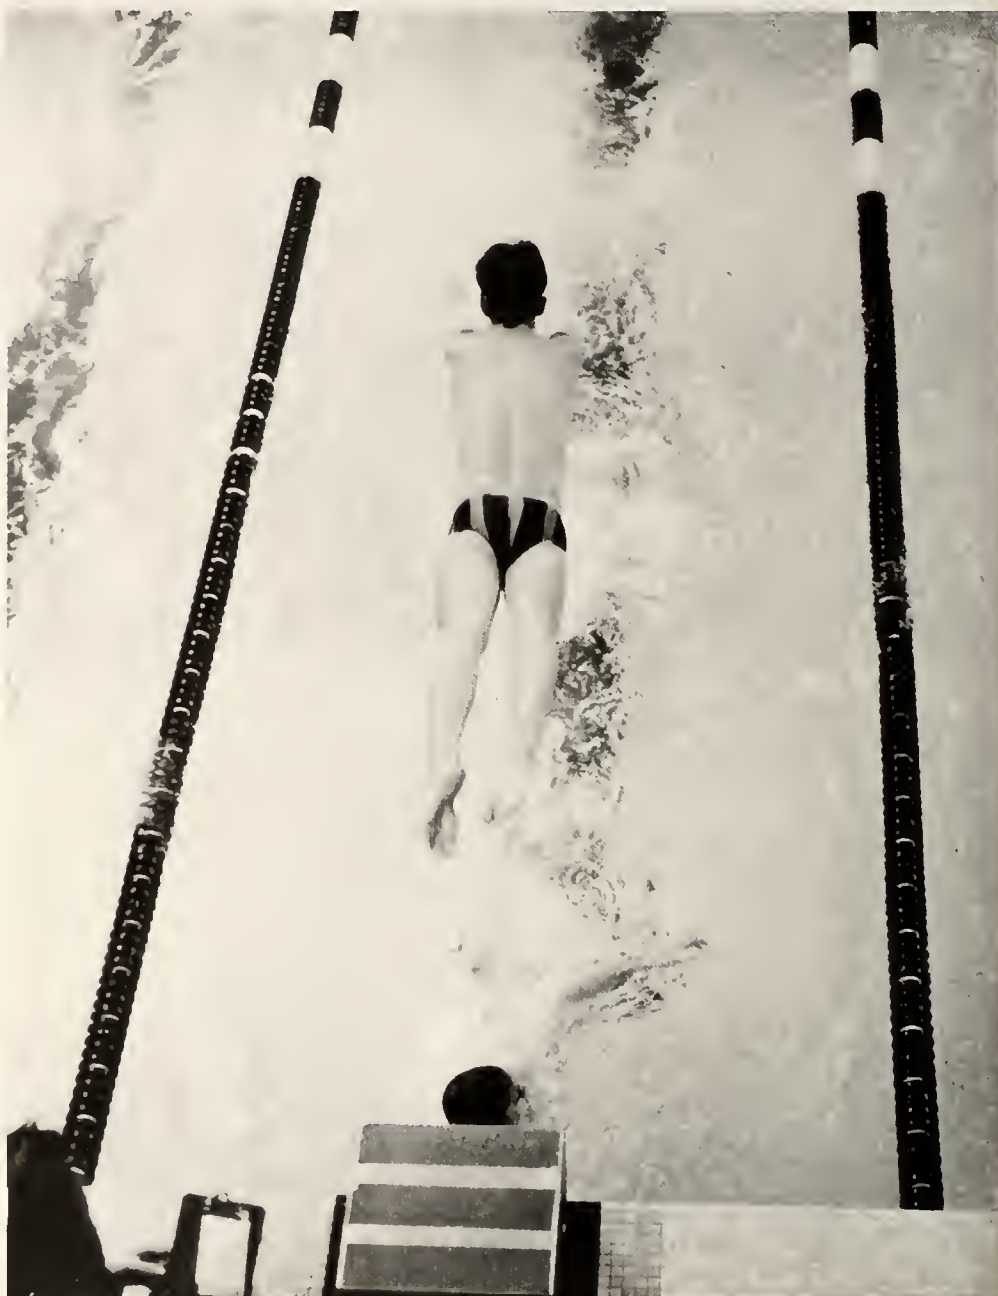

Beginning a season with eight swimmers on the men's team and only seven on the women's squad should be enough to make a first-year coach write off the season and look to the future for any team accomplishments.

But VU swimming coach Don Palm adopted a different approach. Through leads given him by swim team members, he met with dormant swimmers, convincing many to join. Through these efforts, the men's roster mushroomed to 23 swimmers, while the women's team reached 15.

"If the men can upset Evansville we might be able to win conference," Palm commented. The men's team features diver Mike Flemister, who has qualified for Division I national competition on the one-meter and three-meter, boards, sprinter Brian Dobben and backstroke and freestyle man Karl Keller.

The women's team hopes for a strong finish at the tough Indiana state meet. Senior Barb Hill leads a team laden with underclassmen.

The future for VU swimming is promising with the return of sophomores Tim Hannon and Dave Franks and freshman Brian Robinson on the men's squad and Anne Benoit, Terry Chambers, Paula Tice and Kris Conrad from the women's team. These swimmers along with a crop of strong incoming recruits will hopefully signal a bright future for VU.

Touch and go. The men's relay team competes at a home swim meet.

Intramurals

Intramurals have no doubt left an indelible stamp.

Whether it was that clutch, overtime, come from behind, gutsy, unbelievable and occasionally exaggerated victory or the time your team snuck in an unauthorized player to pull off an upset, intramurals won't be forgotten.

Remember the tackle touch football and tackle soccer and tackle basketball? Bad refs worse refs, terrible refs, drunk refs and a very small quantity of good refs also added to the excitement-confusion of the non-varsity season.

The race for the all-sports trophy (a prime selling for the frats and sororities), the feeling of comradery, brotherhood or sisterhood promoted by competition, the pride, the despair... All these feelings were intramurals; they will not be forgotten.

Speed thrills. Aileen Buckley and Sandy Brinkman enjoy the rapid excitement of rafting on the ORC's maiden trip to Wisconsin's Wolf River last August.

ORC provides students with escape

The Outdoor Recreation Center (ORC), new to Valpo this year, provided students with a chance to get away from campus with inexpensive weekend rafting, spelunking and camping trips.

The ORC also allowed those who either decided or were forced to stay on campus to rent roller skates, frisbees, cross-country skis, toboggans, etc. at a low price for the enjoyment.

Camping equipment was available to those who wished to venture out on their own in the wild.

A total of 280 students along with a handful of faculty members paid the $2 first-time users fee to take advantage of the many benefits that the ORC had to offer.

Frisbee finesse. Craig Johnson polishes up on his catching skills with a ORC frisbee.

Skiing the tundra. Doug Rigoni tests one of the on-campus trails.

Skating away. Ken Eklov and friend take some time out for an afternoon skate.

Resident Assistants: pulling dorms together

Laura Jolly, head R.A. on campus

*“Making dorm living
a better experience”*

Describe the role of an R.A. at Valparaiso University? That's a pretty difficult assignment. There are many different kinds of people on this campus and there are almost as many kinds of R.A.s. Look around sometime and you'll notice R.A.s involved in just about every activity and organization on campus. There are R.A.s on varsity athletic teams, performing in musical groups and in drama productions, and involved in chapel and union activities. There are R.A.'s in fraternities, sororities, honorary societies, and professional societies. Just about anywhere you go, whether it's the library, Jackson's, chapel or Baskin-Robbins, the chances are good that you'll run into an R.A.

So what do all these people have in common? If nothing else, each of them has dedicated a part of himself to making dorm living here at V.U. dorm a better experience. Every R.A. has to deal with the daily problems that arise in the dorms. Some of these concern the physical environment. Someone has to know what to do when the heat doesn't work, the john overflows, the elevator breaks or the power goes off. The tougher problems, however, are the "people" problems — the ones that involve feelings and make people laugh and cry. Sometimes that means that an R.A. has to play the role of mother or father, and sometimes it means being a disciplinarian or arbitrator, but most of the time it means just being a friend to someone at a time when that is what he or she needs most. Simply listening to a person and letting him know that you care can work miracles.

Of course, there are some R.A. duties which are easier to tabulate. These include being on dorm duty about once a week, heading dorm committees and planning dorm programs, attending the week-long R.A. orientation in the fall and the R.A. workshops held throughout the year, attending weekly staff meetings and writing resident evaluations at the end of the year.

While all these duties are important, the real challenges and rewards of the job come from working with people and helping each student with whom you have contact to develop to his or her greatest potential.

— Laura Jolly, head R.A.

R.A.s: the "unsung heroes" on campus

The R.A. is a "person in the middle," being a student and at the same time a representative of the Office of Student Affairs, and therefore must command the respect and trust of peers and elders.

An R.A. on Valpo's campus is a member of a student-development team whereby he or she shares in the vital role of assisting people with their growth. Since on-campus housing provides students with opportunity to integrate the classroom experience with their beliefs and activities, to learn to live with others and to grow and develop as individuals, the R.A. is called upon to create and maintain a living-learning environment where emphasis is placed on fostering and stimulating intellectual, spiritual, social, emotional and physical well-being.

I think the Resident Assistant is an indispensable grassroots team member who holds one of the most responsible and demanding student positions on this campus. That's why we look for the very extraordinary student who has his or her life enough in hand to be able to help others.

In my opinion, the R.A.s are the unsung heroes on Valpo's campus.

You said it!

To Mark Mielke — Matches! Fireworks! The whole world is coming to an end and you're worried about being depressed. Baaack. Baaack. Baaack she goes. HEY! HEY! Well ya see, ya got this resistor on the left and this voltage source on the right and this duck in the middle that goes eeeeeEEEEeee ... 5 North would never have been the same without you ... Scott Z

Remember: Never go wading in Go-go boots.

Vicki — When "morning has broken" and my paranoia of flies lives on, let's have a huge munchie attack or take off to Chicago and just figure "another one bites the dust." Sure missed you, roomie! — Love ya, Shar

Dan and RC: No. No. You're both cute and I'll remember both of you forever. When I'm old and gray, you'll still bring a smile. P.S. Behave yourselves! — M.L.

Diane, Joanne, Liana, Tina, Krystal — Now don't forget to keep a few weekends open for me to come spend some time in your suite of rooms! Come up to good ole Funview every once in a while and we'll try to find something to do! I love you! — Kathy

Lots of love to my favorite cousin and my favorite cousin's roommate, too ...

To the 1980 Field Hockey State Champs: Always remember "Shoe Box, Shoe Box," Raw Hockey, Talk-O, Van rides, Water Tower and the old "Hockey Spirit." Thanks for a great season and all the "good times, good times." Love ya all, Kelbo

Dear 3-South: I may not have spent as much time with you as other RAs spent with their girls, but I'm so thankful that I was given the privilege of being a part of your freshman year. Thanks for all the wonderful memories. Go forth and enjoy your next three years. Love and peace, Jody

To BJB (Since you are one of my best friends): You're so cute! Thanks for listening to me (and telling me my jokes are funny). I'll miss you, and forgive me for becoming a Hoosier! Love, one of your best friends.

Waller — Hey, don't forget all our F-U-N times. You just fracture me sometimes. Pork chops for dinner? E.S.A.D. I'll miss you! Love, Waller

Dave, words can't really express how I feel, but my heart says "I love you." Thanks for your smiles & hugs. In Him, Jody

Cheryl Mueller, Robin, Natalie, Donna, Amy, Carol, Sonya, Cheryl Mazak, Marcianne, Sue, Patty, Mary, Ralph and Brian (Did I miss anybody?): Do you remember last year? 2nd floor Alumni? Popcorn parties at 11 p.m.? The fishnets that didn't work? Halloween and Christmas? Good luck in the future. I'll miss you nuts, Margaret

Beth, Lynn and Cheryl Andros — I didn't forget you three. Yours is next year. Margaret Dearest — What can I say? Thank God for the Eagles! (and Riunite and lost seats!) What? I sure will miss you. Why don't you change your major to "Time machines" and make these next 2 years fly? Just remember — ILY ... always and forever. Love, me

To Sue Ann ... the greatest roommate one could have! May God bless you today and always with the joy and love that you gave to others. Remember ... "Those who bring sunshine to the lives of others cannot keep it from themselves." Have a beautiful day! Your roomie, B.B.

Gramps: Thanks for the memories ... "Slow dancin'", TKA, Tabor Farms, Sunday afternoons, formals, Pete and Ronnie, Ft. Wayne, etc. Hope you find what you're looking for. Love you "Always and Forever." Really, really, Truly, truly, Grandma

Oh Sheila and Mel, Your loving patience and understanding is a gift that you have abundantly given to others while at Valpo. The spot that you have touched in my heart will always remain warm and will assist me as I reach out to others. Love, Laurie

Lorrie — Love is ... the exchange of two fantasies made into one! Bobby Jer: We made it! Thanks for your unending love and support; I couldn't have made it without you. Love, as always, your middle button.

Creep (Alias Face): Don't forget to beware of girls in yellow coats and safari shorts. They'll pin you every time. Thanks for the fantastic year; I can hardly wait for the next 100 to come. Good luck in the future and don't forget wherever you go your shadow is always right beside you. All my love always, Your Little Pooper P.S. "Three" P.S.S. Congratulations on a super basketball season. You were terrific. Face'm!!!

JDL: Thanks for listening, laughing and griping with me. Special thanks for listening to all my bitching (God knows I did enough). I enjoyed our many philosophical discussions. Don't change. P.S. You're still in trouble for the nightshirt. Love, Mom.

To Jeff Hodges — HI JEFF! Darn, we forgot our colored markers again. Smith wasn't that bad. Well, maybe he was. Smile. Scott Z

I've got the marble, if you've got the time

Mitch, all you have to remember is "no money, don't spend," and you'll do fine. The current Treas.

Nothing happened!

Heidi, Denise, Kathy, Grant, Kevin, Steve: It's been a great year. Thanks! And remember to take time to fly once in a while. Love, Kelli

To Kapopski, Sped and Nicky: It was a fast 3 years, but what we've shared will stay with me forever. Keep sharing your love. C.T.

To Lesa, Liz, Mira and Pat:

Seems as though our paths crossed just yesterday, Yet, our experiences could fill a lifetime.

Today we laugh, but tomorrow holds its secrets.

At times we've had our differences and problems,

But in the end only the happiness will be remembered.

Though time and space may set us apart in the future,

Our togetherness at this moment shall not be forgotten.

Years may pass, but the friendship will live in eternity.

— Love, Sue and Diana

To Wild Mustang, Palomino, and Old Gray Mare: You "mustn't" ever forget all the good times. Thanks for a great year! Love, Appaloosa

Come one, Shiple! Just one more waltz! Love, your favorite high step

3-N Lankenau young ladies!

Good friends, good laughs, good thoughts,

That's what you're all about

Best of anyone around

Glad to have met you in Valpo town

— Lion Lady

To Sig Eps: Our self-interest is your main interest ...

The ALLIANCE, Rulers of the Underworld

Activities: Life Insurance (Extortion)

Banking and Credit (Loan Sharking)

Mass Communications (Blackmail)

Public Service (Prostitution)

Institutional Reforms (Subversion)

Research and Information Analysis (Espionage)

Social Welfare (Oppression)

To Kurt Stefans — (12:32 a.m.) Hello? Carolyn? It's for you. Roommates should always be like the odd couple. Use your headphones! Scott Z

KSL: I publicly apologize for the ashtray incident freshman year. I'm glad it didn't come between us. Your friendship means a lot to me. Stay happy and healthy. Love, Mom.

Jane — I couldn't have asked for a better roommate — you're a great friend and I love you. We'll make those diets (ugh) work yet. Love, Shar

To my Kappa Sisters — Thank you for the best two years of my life. I'll never forget the love and friendship I have found in all of you! You're the best!! God Bless You! With Kappa Love, KJM

Yokie Bay-bee fondest farewells — early morning breakfast anytime. No lumps, I promise! XXOO

Michael, Thanks for all the listening, the sharing, the caring and the giving. And most importantly, thanks for showing me Jesus' love through you. Jody

To the world's greatest roommate, Miss Brauer: It was excellent living with you 2 semesters in a row! The black man didn't get us this year! I'll miss you! and our yawns, your smile, hugs, and our many adventures! I would've never survived the fall without you! Who will I wake up and smell the coffee with next year? Be sure to keep your membership to our N.A. club! Thanks for being my friend. Love, your roomie

KJE — Carry on in Senate — drink a Tab and rum for me! The Treas.

The BEST of EVERYTHING ALWAYS ADI and DAN'O. Thanks for all the support and love, this year especially. Your little sis, Coliko

To all Sophomores:
Second semester. Running here.
Running there. From class to class.
To work. To practice. To a meeting.
To rehearsal. Washing clothes.
Homework. Enough sleep.
Sophomore slump.
When will it all end?
Happiness is Spring Break!
My heart yearns for Lauderdale (to relax on the sunny beaches and come back to Valpo with a tan in mid-March)
just to be bored for a while.
— J. Persino

To my dear friends Ney, Moo and Alex, for spreading sunshine on cloudy days, and expressing the greatest gift of all ... LOVE. Thanks! Love, ZQ.

To Steve Mollenhauer — Somebody has to ... ya somebody ... EEEE DDDD ... Hey, ya goin' to Gellerstone to see Boo Boo and Yogi? Wait for me ... Thanks for the memories. Scott Z

What's your favorite color, Kath?

Lisa — Thanks for being a great friend and jogging partner — Glad we've kept in touch. Remember Florida '80 always! Love, Shar

To the kids: Thanks for being there when I needed you. (even when you did say things I didn't want to hear). Without your help, I never would have made it. Marianne

Wenj and Linda-Pooh: How come neither of my two favorite sisters ever gave me any of their leftovers? Remember — believe in your dreams, for they will come true! Oh yeah, GREEN rules, right? I'll miss you both so very much! I love you. Kappa Love, Kathy 100 McIntyre — Banana Cream Palace. Lisa Liz. Lynn Ann, Barb, Karen — John and Mindy too!

To the Clique (not that sororities have cliques): I can't tell you how much I'll miss you all next year. Don't forget to plan a few road trips to South Bend (vacation spot of the Hoosier State). Thanks for everything — Love always, LJP

Carolyn — Boston, Kappas, formals, Dan Fogelberg, Waller, Jackson's, Keg-gars, prank phone calls, growing up (?), Assistant R.A. Thanks. I'll miss you! Love, Kelley

Lise, 25 words or less is next to impossible. Our friendship is so full of loving and caring and sharing. I love you. Jodes

Flem — Heeey wow! I know how to make a pizza! What would I do without you? and appreciating? and pina coladas? hugs? and fruit salad? and the blue shag experience? Mmmha ... ha. Ribbit. Please don't turn Japanese! Thanx for being my friend. I will miss you — and remember — enough is enough! Love, Slime

To that special group that attends 1st Baptist Church: May the Lord bless your lives richly in whatever you do & wherever you go. My love and prayers are with you always. B.B.

C.J.L.: What can I say that you don't know? We've got a lot of life ahead of us and many chances to share it. Cindy

To Nancy: For all that we've shared together this year ...
For canoeing and car rides and midnight walks and talks ...
For the smile in your eyes and the care in your heart ...
For all that you are and have been ... THANKS A LOT!
I love you. Your brother in Christ

Hey Waller: Train just went by ... It left its tracks! I'll miss you, Walker Head. Signed Waller Doug — You've always been a part of my dreams, and now you're a part of my life. Thanks for making my dreams come true! — Tammy

Merry Christmas, Kent! A friend of Cathy's.

TGZ, The past with you is something I'll cherish, and while we're apart I'll joyfully anticipate all the things we've yet to share. ILY! — GMN

To the LUST BUNCH — Thanks for making these last four years ones I'll never forget! Jim, thanks for being the very best guy a girl could have. And most of all, thanks Mom and Dad, for making everything possible. Love, Karen.

Don't mess with M. Labahn!

To the ladies in red, thanks for a great four years. I'll miss you all. Love, Sharpe.

C-26: Our term in Cambridge was wonderful, fantastic and "simply lovely!!!" I'M SURE we were over there! I mean, NO KIDDING! I wish I could arrange to meet you at Belinda's for tea, at King's for Evensong or along the Cam for a walk — Maybe we can compromise and get some Digestives from Marshall Field's, look at pictures and ... remember ... I'm glad I was able to be there with you. Love, Monica XO

To Karen, Cheryl, Katie, Heather and Julie: Happy Hour (night?); Cruising around the campus; the Christmas Carol; Quarters; tending bar; Hulie is wearing Houan and going to the guynotologist; sleeping in the hallway; passing out; weird sandwich cravings; singing in the laundry room; 3rd floor bathroom at Phi Delta; losing things the weekend I went home; do you remember Homecoming — at all?; 3:00 — our bedtime; Chocolate Turtles; I don't like root beer; Nov. 8th — best birthday party; But why?; our famous all-nighter-hysterics; O.K. fine; 2:00 visit to Donut Hut after "the baby"; my first happy hour; sneaking in at 6 a.m.; Tell "Mom" I said hi; 2nd floor bathroom at Pikes; Protection from E.S. Bob; breakfast at McDonald's; Record 1.9; When in lab playing with the beaker is dangerous; Thanks for saying boo; teaching you to smoke; The Whale; The post; happy hour snowbanks; Faux pas; The Other Place; laughing attacks; Edith Ann; The Mad Hatter; Surveys; The dynasty; Dieting and of course G.H. Thanks for the memories. Love, Kathy

You know me! I know you! This is what I said I'd do. You're in the Beacon. Yes — it's true! Alas — no names! So sorry you two! (Thanks for a good year! Don't forget Costas, pizza, the Muppets (shudder!) and lots of fun! Love yal)

KSL — You know, that Britt really Burns! Is it a long way to empty with a Dotson? ... Someday I'll catch a Rainbow Trout — even at 80 m.p.h. ... Do you Krave Kenny? Me, too ... April showers bring May flowers, or so they say — but Bum-gardens "sprouted" Ross ... Is Ron as comfortable as an old Shue? Can Shues stick their tongues out??? ... Well, it's just another chapter in The Joy of Sox. Hopefully more to follow this summer, right? K.C., here we come!! — L & K, JDL

Michael — Late night typing and early morning radio shows will never be the same. Now I can look back and laugh! Take care. Love, Diana.

Hey! Kelbo and Waller: OÙ est la bibliotheque? Ffo, No! What's in the frig? Racin' radio in Ssbb. Love and the best for you! Dombini

MARK, RANDY, GLENN, JIM, SUE, DAN, APRIL, LOIS, CHRIS, SHELLY, MARTI & JOE — Thanks for all of your efforts in the Recreation Center. I can't think of a better group to work with. — IRIS

Momlet and Poplet, Glad you're finally making it legal. Love, your two favorite kidlets, C & J.

Boss — You've been absolutely the best to work for. Many thanks! (Just don't expect to install any of my chandeliers. Sue Joyce, ok — what, ok, is you're new numbar? ok? I have not able, ok, to reech you, ok? Call me, ok? Luv, ok? Jim, ok?

To those who knew, but ignored, and those who came to our Keg in the Kloset Party — Remember the fun! Renee & Tina Kappas — You're the best corridor any R.A. could ask for. Good luck to all of you. Kappa Love, your R.A.

Tim — You still fascinate me! Love, Pat B.

Lisa — Who else could put up with a roommate like me? Thanks for always listening (when you can finally get me to talk!)

The best to Marlene & Paul — Love & the best from 3 South 1978-79.

To Cheryl, Katie, Kathy, Heather and Karen: Quarters at Phi Delt's ... Late nights in the ironing room ... Good girls don't, but 3-N does and Karen can't ... Steelers ... Edith Ann — "West! by God!" ... Beached whales boogie down ... T.J. and Tacos ... aggravating interruptions ... cigarette corruptor ... "R.R.R. do you love me?" ... curfew? ... tears + no-doze = all-nighter ... tornado haven ... baked potatoes ... four down — two to go ... "Didn't even come in to say Boo!" ... wasted days and wasted nights ... finger draws ... keggar birthday parties ... laughing attacks ... love that lettuce! ... "deep" sex talks ... outrageous phone bills ... visiting hours? ... thunder thighs ... 8:00 blow-offs ... the rating game ... tushies ... lost: one green sock ... the perfect body ... the dreaded morning after ... Alpha Alkie Alphas ... will she or won't she? ... ripped blue jeans ... GO FOR IT!!! Love, Julie

D.M.: Perhaps I'll miss you most of all. Thanks for making me grow up enough to realize that it's OK to really care for people — you've managed to reach me in a way that I thought was impossible. I'll always care for and about you. Have a great senior year.

Spags: What an inspiration! Remember all those great times at Jackson's after classes and the hangovers the next day! Someday, I'll come by and read your Theo notes. Thanks for the lingerie to add to my collection! Bosom buddies forever (even if I start to sag!) Love, Keppenface

Mel and Sheila, I have enjoyed very much the time we have spent together the past two years. You both have so much to offer, and I know that these special traits will lend you success in your careers. Love you both, Joann. P.S. — B.C.N.U.

To my lovely wife Laurie — I never would have made it without you. I love you. Scott.

Lorrie — "Together forever" — Bobby

To the Clique — Thanks to all for a great year! What will we do next year without AMR & LJP? We'll take applications in the fall. KEL, you can't be best friends with anyone else! KJE — you're special. Love, Bootsie

Mel — I'm going to miss you! The best to you and Len! Love, Sue Kathy S. & Ann L.: As we approach the end of another school year, we feel that it is indeed necessary to thank you both for making life here a little more exciting and interesting. Among other things, your presence in the cafeteria made the food tolerable (which is a truly impossible task). We hope that we haven't offended you by our "sophomoric" antics, and, if we have, we hope you will forgive and forget. Have a fine and successful summer and good luck in your future years here at Valpo. Tibi Valedicimus. Admirably yours, Amici Vestri Semper!

Marty: You made me remember what it's like to have a good roommate. Yes, I promise I'll visit next year. Thanks for listening to all my bitching and being crazy with me. Stay happy. P.S.-Hi, Rich! Marianne NAC — please write me 50 million times, because that's how often I'll think of you!

Well everything is movin' right,
so movin's right.
Still I can't deny that old loneliness that comes sometimes.
But every mile and footstep goin' down,
ain't no way a man keeps a count.
You just never forget that lonely stretch, where you keep on for keepin' on.
— Leavin' Texas (Jerry Jeff Walker)

To Hot Toddy, Drupert-B, Dream Weber & the Gang: Remember the MIA; the D&E detective agency (now E&A); PYLOS; White Lightning, Wehr 2N? Remember level 4, the Brainy, trailing Todd, the birthday parties, flagpole, Wallball and WEAD Radio? It's been a great four years. I wish all of you the best. The Pickle Man

To LaRoomie Ndad, Here's to Jim Palmer, Bob Seger & the Stooges. And don't forget sardines, port wine cheese with bread sticks and late night phone calls. I won't forget all that "moaning" nor the French lessons. You've made it a great year I'll never forget! LaMademoiselle Jayniette

Hey, you sweet things, as JT would say, take care and best of luck in the future working world. I'll be thinking of all of you. Remember Spring break 1981, Florida there we were, and the fun we've had together these four years. That's What She Said and Later — Janine.

To Phi Sigma Epsilon: Thanks for making this year very special for me. You are a great group of guys and I'll never forget you. Love always, Your Sweetie

Our days together have eclipsed our months apart. I'm so glad we did it. I Love You Bob. Cyn

To Heather, Cheryl, Kathy, Karen, and Julie: Happy hours — some til 1 a.m.; sex talks; breakfast at McDonald's; whip it; Flint Lake; ya know; crank calls; pumping; 1.9; dirty books; Oh, duh; needing assistance from Happy Hour; birthday; Space Invaders; Berg men, Dau boys; Bud-man; Twilight Zone; Try to remember the month of September; General Hospital. Thanks for the memories, guys. I love ya. Katie

Javi — Comin' in, Comin' in, , Comin' in, Comin' in, from the cold ... your Reggae Woman

Dr. Becky: Plastic Man and I say so glad to have met you. Lion Lady

Lorrie: Remember: Are you tired?; cold blood; peanut butter cookies; popcorn; goodnight ceiling; lions; TALKING; Being able to draw a line down the middle of the room; the U.F.O. alarm; premonitions and of course sneaking in at 9:30 a.m. May all your dreams with Rob come true in 1984. Thanks for being the best roommate. Love, Kathy

Kathy G. — Considerate and sweet,
So glad we did meet
Laughs, talks and popcorn
Alarm clocks ringing in early morn
Valpo's life been great
Having you as my roommate — Lion Lady

To our fellow DQ Runners — Here's to all those crazy Thursday nights: whip cream, crack-the-whip, cemeteries, Fiesta Sundae's, and the Dunes will live forever! Love, "Tom & Jeri"

To Marily-Moo, preoccupied Joyce, Mushie (alias Yak Yak face), Kellie (our very responsible gopher), Sharon, Heidi and, oh Gad! Alice: It's been a crazy four years you guys! Thanks for the memories. All my love always — Sue.

To: Julie, Cheryl, Katie, Karen and Kathy — The Continuing Saga of Lust, Trauma, and Good Times on Three-North ... LGNT night ... bastardize ... to the Luse brothers — we leave you each other ... Quarters at DTP ... Polite Dinner Conversations with "Edithanne" on whales and the sequel, "Moby Dick Meets Flipper." Details at three ... Harpooning Whales ... The Days of Asti and Roses ... Lines that shine by the light of the moon ... Weird Jeff ... brainstorming at four ... ROCK LOBSTER ... WHIP IT GOOD ... gesundheit ... The Kant Belch ... The Michigan Kiss(?) ... Carry me back to old Lankenau ... Until the next beercup falls ... "I can get into it!" ... much love, Heather

Lori Jean — Best of luck in all your endeavors. What can I say ... did ya French?! Love, Barbi

You brought yourself — it's all you had! Your life crammed into boxes and bags. You moved it in — four-south became home! Some days you laughed. On others you groaned. Advice for the future: Be happy! Have fun! Give the world a smile! You've given me one! Luv ya! Cathy Michelle's not with the rest of her class, in fact, she's in a world of her own! Best of luck. Love ya, Paula and Janet

TO ALL MY GOOD FRIENDS AT THE TKE HOUSE: In some way, at some time, I hope I have done or can do for you that which you have done for me which is more than you may ever know or understand — Happy Summer Sunshine! — MUCH LOVE, Lynn

Former S-Westerns, Keg in Kloset, Section H, and all those others who made the last 4 years memorable! Keep in touch. Renee & Tina

TO US: Memories of the past come back to mind as we sit together once again. We're so sorry we were not living together for those few months. But the joy in our hearts radiates as we find ourselves once again sharing a quiet night. Do it with a smile!

To all Valpo men: With deepest regrets we are forced to inform you that "Lust Lounge" is going out of business. For all of you who have not purchased our merchandise, we express our deepest sympathies. We leave you with these words — GO FOR IT!! Senuously, Lori Lust & staff

Dearest Machinakor Milants, Remember the great time we had? I miss you very much. Good luck to the full-fledged machinakors! Come back and visit! As for the almost full-fledged machinakors, see you next year! Lots of love, Pooh-Bear (Ursub) and Aunt Phoebe's nieces

India-Lima-Oscar-Victor-Echo-Yankee-Oscar-Uniform, Bravo-Oscar-Bravo! 45683968, Charlie-Yankee-November

Sandy, I wish you good spaces in the far away places you go. If it rains or snows may you be safe and warm ... And if you need somebody sometime, you know I will always be there.

The Gang: Thanks for a great Senior year. Much luck in the future to you all. Love, 2 Hostesses with the Mostest 100 McIntyre — A house does not make a home. The women of 100 McIntyre do! Banana! Creamy Bagel! That's what he said! Kiki and Jock ...

GENTLEMEN!! Umm ... Granted that the GD saw a lot of action (on Who's mattress?), I remember that Do(e) rubbered the first H.D. before he had ever heard of Catfish. N'Regardless of Baum's cynicism and Yorkster's relative (and a herd of hamsters), Roads is still on his way to becoming the house's best ribbon clerk alumni. Long live the best spring there ever was. Love 'n' kisses, Whobuddy

Dearest Paul, I wanna spend time with you. I love you! Your Em

To "The Clan" — M.A., Tams, Julius, Coach, Chubs: A toast to: back-rubs; Beatles; booze; Fire Up!; Happy Hours; Pikes; Jackson's; cotton mouth; Sambo's; nursing; 3-S; all-nighters; THE popcorn popper; boys; "Go For It!"; Get It Up Gang; formals; George; wineskins; football games; cowboy hats; walking; dancing; dieting; snarfing; scoping chasing & finding; padinkies; G.H., T.B., T.B., J.S., D.B., J.C., D.O.; Lush Lips; Pops & Moms; re-unitings with old flames; new loves; first dates; Wed. Night Movies; & "husbands," And a final toast to the times ahead. It's been real! Love & kisses, Bons & Amos (of "The Clan")

COBBS — What's a woman to do? Baggle Butt, Ice Cream Queen, Dwaine that Tub and O.S. — what a gas? Rest easy! Love, COACH COBBS

My thanks and appreciation to all those involved with student government and student activities. I think it was a great year. (Me.)

David, I want the world to know how much I love you. Doris

Dear Charlie, You have made this past year wonderful for me. I'm looking forward to our long and happy life together. Love always, Nancy

Dear Gail, Thank you for making my last three years at V.U. so wonderful! I love you! Tim

Dear Brothel Madam with pink paints, yellow strawberry shirt and Rabbits on your feet: Do the men glued to your wall enjoy listening to Michael Jackson? Does the ugly dog outside your window (poor thing) respond to your animal sounds? Lady with beautiful roommates and great friends, hope you have a nice summer in the Prairie of Eden (Fun times). You know we're going to miss Bob next year. She'll be at U of I. Well, take care, we all love you. Maybe dance with me next year, ok?

Doc G. — If you teach me to play handball, I'll teach you to roller skate, ok? Love, The Cellar-Dwelling FLASH.

To the illustrious '78-'79 S-West: It was phenomenal! Don't forget: Section H for Homecoming '81!! Live life to the max! H.K.

i wonder if she sees my tears ...
i wonder if she feels my pain ...
i wonder if she awaits the day when i may rise ...
to kiss her ... again ... forever.
then i see the angel in my life ...
i feel her love, her hand upon my breast, her lips pressed to mine.
and through this princess ... i wonder no more.
— James Adam West

Love ya 2nd floor Brandt from the cooks and card sharks of 1st floor Alumni: preoccupied Joyce (Erica), Mushie (Yak-Yak Face), Responsible Kellie (Gopher).

Lorrie — The sea has its pearls, the earth has its sun, the heavens their stars, and I ... you! — Bobby

Cindy: I want to thank you for the most wonderful year of my life and all of the good times we've had together. You are everything that I could ever dream about and I love you very much. The love we have experienced can only grow stronger. And soon we will have the rest of our lives to enjoy that love. Remember Xmas Eve, the alligators, knock-knock, Patti's sexy things, Erlanger and everything else. All my special love, Joe Uncle Tony — No dog, no van, no Ann. Valparaiso, you're my kind of town!

To all of my nursing friends ... we actually made it. We survived, with God's help, what seemed the impossible. May all your dreams come true, and may you find happiness in all you do. Thanks for your friendship, your support, and especially your prayers. God bless, Becky B.

Candi, Terry, Deb, Lisa, Jane, Kori, "Little" Deb, Steve, Trace, Mike, Janet, and Barb — Thanks for sharing a special time with me a year ago. May God always travel with you as you leave Valpo. Alles Gute! Becky

Sorry I'm late, but I had to answer the phone ... Any changes in the minutes? No, Rachel, that's Budden, not Buddox ... Committee reports ... Jim ... no, that was not Matt and I in your hotel room ... NEXT ... Rodney on Special Events ... Yes Rodney, we know, you are a special event ... especially in those yellow tights ... Union Operations — that's you Jerry — What? No money? SEX has it all? Does that mean there's a party this weekend? ... Travel — Lisa — you want to go back to what restaurant on Seminary? ... We give up, why couldn't the Patriots climb up Bunker Hill? ... Films ... Yes Matt, we know you have all the money and deserve respect but don't you think "The Matt Branning Story" is a bit much for a weekend film? ... Union Programming ... Liz — oh, you're new, no need to comment ... Mini-Courses ... Dave ... What? The computer is down so you were unable to plan mini-courses this semester! ... Paula on Prof. Entertainment ... You're kidding! Does that mean the Beatles reunion on the tundra is cancelled? You've replaced them with Byron who? ... Publicity ... Nick ... please try to keep tabs on your friend ... White-out is really hard to get out of the phone ... by the way ... where is the phone? ... Outdoor Rec ... (or is that Outdoors Wrecked?) Mike ... No report, just a stupid joke? ... go right ahead, that's what we're here for! ... Tempo ... Buzz, Buzz, wake up! You've scheduled Barry Goldwater and Muddy Waters in the Chapel? ... Maybe next year, Led Zepplin can make it to the Arts Festival ... Mitch, shut up and pay the bills!!

To my girls of 3N Lankenau: It's been a great year, I love you all! Also, thanks to Beth and Steve (XOXO) for your support!

Donna, I know it didn't seem like it, but we really didn't hate you. You're so much fun to tease. Stay crazy. ML & MT

Dave — Thanks for the great times we've had together. You've helped me through the rough spots and made the fun even better. Love always — Julie

Dear Patrick: I love you so very much and I wanted to tell you again how important you are in my life. I am looking forward to June 13, 1981, when we will be able to spend each day together for the rest of our lives. Love is ... becoming "Mr." and "Mrs." — Tricia

To our Phi Mu Brothers: Thanks for your love and understanding. We are proud to be your Little Sisses. Love, Little Sisses 1980-81

Granny, Alpha V, and Curfew: A few words of advice as we continue our education at Valpo ... Join HA, beware of snakes, and don't forget to send those telegrams when the situation arises! — Bizz Squirrel

Lizard, Nicoletta — Rejoicing in many good times!-breakfasts at the Onion, lots of laughs, good buns, walks, wine. "Tank ayou, boys — it was wonderful, wonderful!" — d.

Little Comanche (Cowgirl):

I want you!

I need you!

I love you!

— forever —

— An insignificant freshman (Broncing Buck)

Char & John — Lots of luck, Happiness and Wild Nights! Love, yer ru-mate.

My Bob: I love you lots and lots and lots and lots and lots and lots and lots!! And here I come! Love, Doos

To a girl from Columbus:

To a girl that is bizarre.

You made my life, the best so far.

I need you much, so keep in touch.

Because summer of '82 is not that far away.

— Love always, your "queer" to Kappa Psi Omega — It's time to bid farewell to the sisters we LOVE so very much! Keep up the tradition of having a "halo" of a good time!! Stay in touch with us! Good luck and God bless you. Kappa Love, the Seniors

Kelly — Remember to get prior approval before you make new friends! Miss ya!!

Dearest Mom & Dad, Pat, George, & Gef: Thanks for your four years of support & TLC. I love you a lot. Em

Cath, What can I say? What do we both say? Maybe we'll find out. Thanks for answering all my questions and living above me. Jodes

My dearest Pam — It was so nice having you down the hall! Thanks for always being there — now the tables have turned and I'll have to write to Valpo! I'll sure miss you. Keep drinking pina colodas! and make the most of our women in red! Love, Kath

To Julie B — We've shared some happy and sad times here at Valpo, (mostly happy) times that shall live with me forever. I was so happy when I met you and got to know you, and so sad when you decided to leave Valpo. It never was the same without you around. Never will be. But remember wherever you are and wherever you go, I'll never forget you. — love, Scott

To the Strap-on Patrol: Give me a reason why! I can't find one, so get out the twine. The Snake found one, but it had a hairy chest. Mark found one, but he had a W.D. Coach and Jarabek found one, but they forgot where they left it. Do bong hits to bring back your memory. Urb had one, but he dropped it and wouldn't come over to clean it up. Dirk and Mikey found one, but they lost it in a blizzard. You know what they say — the grass is always golder on the next boat. B.F. Toni Boats. Woopsy dasie, B.F. Greeks on motorcycles, that pick-up must have moved. Noooo! — we hit a time warp. Somebody wrote this to make it look like the chaw did it.

Julie — Rainbows, 15 minute clean-ups, a hearing aid, tornado haven, laughing attacks, Bob the mauler, Tom Collins, your experience with our favorite whale, birthday parties, the best babysitter a roomie ever had, wagon loads of popcorn, radio dedications, 8:00 blow-offs, calming your hysteria — and many more below. Thanks for putting up with me and for being a great roomie. Love ya, Cheryl

Kathy, Karen, Katie, Heather and Lorrie: Spacing out, massive diets, our all-nighter (tears and laughing), root beer, potato chips, but why? — because!! Nov. 8, punk dancing, our first happy hour, "watch it wiggle — see it jiggle," 2:00 Donut Hut runs, your famous bed, the dynasty, tons of popcorn, lap-ezes, sex talks, that special dream man, physical attractions, one green sock, paper boy job, long nails, strange overnights, Theo papers, the famous blazer, dangerous introductions, Phi Delt duets, half-breed, "honk-honk," the missing muncher, brillo pads, "Geez-oh-petes," needing help home from Happy Hour, small men, "Never been any reason," Sig Pi little sis', sugar free Dr. Pepper, calling in sick, space invaders, Taxi, snoozing, Hammond guys and Cal City tours, a great confidant, laughing attacks, slumber parties, head of "Save the Whales," sex surveys, The Other Place, baked spuds, "Whip It," orange juice, our own Betsy Ross, noisy showers, candy cane p.j.'s, a den of lions, never being carded, 9:30 a.m. curfew, Snickers and Mars, and the best of luck in the future as Mrs. Lind. Guys, it's been probably one of the best years ever. I love you all, and thanks. Cheryl

Christy — To a beautiful sister. Enjoy your years here at Valpo, and always remember to keep the Lord first in your life. Your sis, BB

To Stu McClung — Remember Cherry? ... This is a very simple problem I don't understand ... Remember *%$#@ GE59 lab? Math is a four-letter word. zoom zoom zoom ... Scott Z

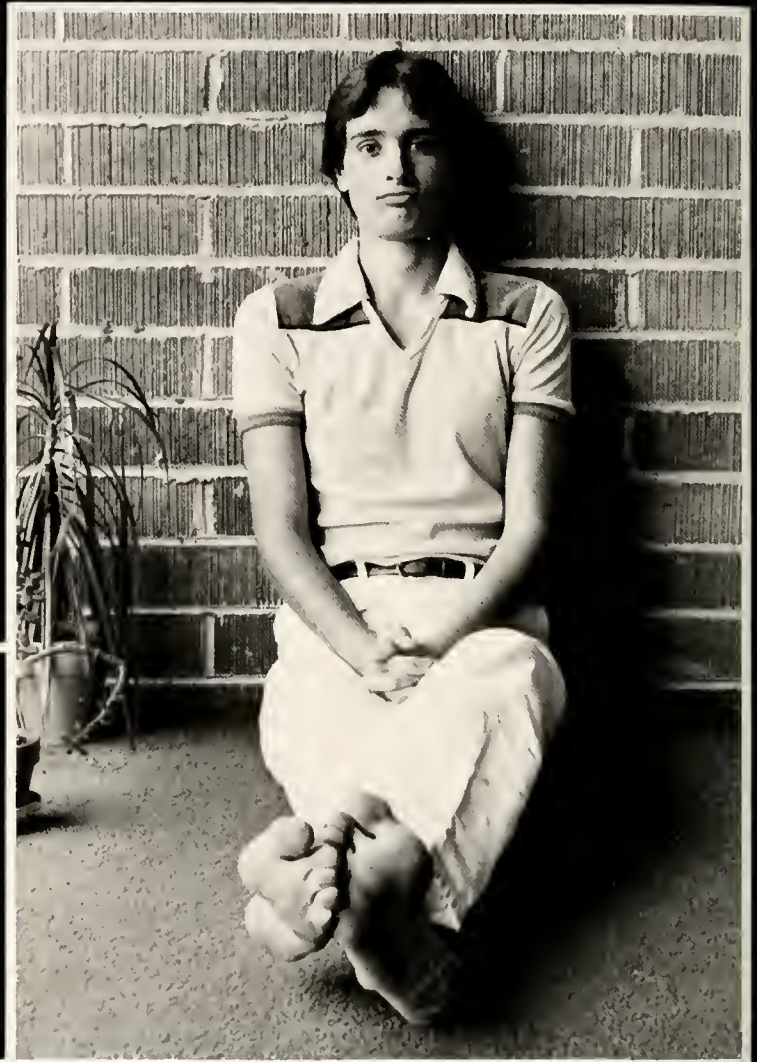

To Ray, Joy and Keith — the second law of TMDN, Physics is Phun, BYL, and woodsy and outdoorsy ...

To Mary and Joyce, I hope you find your buck someday. Love, Virginia (Yes, there is a Santa Claus)

You'd think that I would have seen enough in these past 303 pages that I couldn't bear to put one more cypsheet in the typewriter. Sorry — no dice.

I defy anyone to show me what he considers a better Beacon. (At least give me a few months to overcome my defensiveness.) The 1981 book is graphically creative, technically polished, timely, well-written and as error-free as possible. I think that the book has tremendous student appeal, too.

In August, with only a few carry-overs from last year, the staff seemed doomed to fall apart — or so I thought. It didn't, and for that the section editors (in order of appearance) deserve a round of applause ... Sharon, you lived up to your "old pro" reputation — the V's looked good. Thanks! ... Lynn, I missed your smiles around the office — but what a legacy you left behind: a gorgeous concept for organizations! And Karen, I can't tell you how grateful I was when you took command in mid-stream. A job well done, both of you! ... Dave, it's done. Go enjoy yourself. Thanks for a complete, well-written sports section ... Rae Ann, what will the Greeks section do when you're graduated? ... Kelly and Karen, your early deadlines were the saviors of the other sections. The beautiful job on graphics and accuracy in typing were icing on the cake for me ...

Marry-Ellyn, thanks for your dedication and hard work on seniors ... Congratulations, Vicki — you have really built a strong advertising department. I'll expect nine pages next year! ... And finally, thanks Julie and Susan for tackling the index and all its tediousness.

The editors had a typical love/hate relationship with the photography staff this year — but now that it's all over, we love you again ... Doug, we simply would have been lost without you. I couldn't have asked for anything more — first-class work from such a sweetie ... Bob, thanks much for the quality help which you really didn't have the time to give ... Dave, I'm so glad I talked you into taking the group shots. Your work improved the book considerably ... Kelly, what can I say? Thanks so very much for accepting all that last-minute work — without complaints ... And to John, Craig, Brian, Scott, and all other contributors — thanks!

I owe special thanks to Mike Hackleman, our Josten's rep, for tolerating my urgent last-minute phone calls, and providing all sorts of help and advice. Senior-portrait photographers Bill and Cindy Edwards deserve thanks for taking 600 pictures in six days. Thanks also to Ray Kavey, our Yearbook Associates rep — even though he still owes me a real maple-syrup breakfast.

We are indebted to Pat Downing for locating sports pictures, to Doug Evans for answering senior-picture calls, and to Lori Pless for her expert treasurer-ing. Thanks also to Torch editor Kevin Conley for helping with the dark-room and providing moral support, and to Prof. Albers, our behind-the-scenes adviser, for always being interested in the book's welfare.

But I owe my biggest debt to those people who put up with me during the year. Susan, Marianne, Deb, Marty ... thanks for being a great group of friends! And Kath, thank you for staying my best friend through it all — for counting surveys, proofreading, and letter-folding. I don't know if I could have made it without your support. Thanks for loving me — the feeling's mutual!!
